British Troops Called To Help Flood Rescues

LONDON (AP) — Britain mobilized fresh troops and volunteers today to rescue thousands of marooned families and bolster sagging river banks in the country's worst floods in more than half a century.

Murky waters lapped over thousands of square miles of southern England, isolating villages, snarling transport, spreading vast property damage and leaving families stranded in upper floors of homes with dwindling stocks of food and water.

Rains fell through the night, but the steady rise of rivers, some of them six feet above the flood stage, appeared to have been checked. The Air Ministry forecast mild weather with scattered showers.

The count of the dead in Britain's hurricane of early Monday has risen to 15.

Uprooted trees combined with mountainous snows in Scotland and northern England and submerged roads in the south to leave British transport and communications clogged and industrial transport snarled. Only one highway remained open between England and Scotland.

Troops with amphibious tanks and jeeps carried on rescue work in the Thames Valley and the Fenlands—a marshy area in the east.

A nursing home in Maldenhead, isolated and with telephone communication out of order, sent out an SOS in a corked bottle asking for fresh milk for the children. A doctor answered the call.

Big 4 Deputies Form Committees To Draft Treaty For Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — The Deputy Foreign Ministers of the Big Four agreed today to set up four committees to aid in the drafting of a preliminary peace treaty for Germany.

Russia blocked participation by smaller victor nations in the drafting of the German settlement, despite United States and British insistence that they should be included. The issues remained unsettled.

The deputies agreed to set up committees for:

1. The political structure of Germany.
2. Territorial readjustments and related problems.
3. Economic organization of Germany, and reparations.

Prairie Floods Halt Road Traffic

CALGARY (CP) — Truck and bus travel from Red Deer to the U.S. boundary and from B.C. to Saskatchewan was paralyzed today as a Saskatchewan government highway traffic board ban went into effect on all main and secondary highways at 7 a.m.

Only automobiles, half-loaded trucks carrying milk, eggs, cream, and mail and half-loaded light delivery trucks are allowed to travel. Automobile traffic was very difficult in southern Alberta on gravelled roads, and even on sections of the main highways.

The last bus out of Calgary left last Monday. Railway trains were all reported on time, with no wash-outs being reported.

In Calgary the city engineer's department reported that calls for help with flooded basements had dwindled after a busy week end during which pumping equipment was working steadily.

$3 Wheat At Chicago Grain Pit

CHICAGO (AP) — Three-dollar wheat appeared on the Chicago Board of Trade today for the second time in the 99-year history of futures trading here.

March wheat reached $3.01 to $3.05 a bushel at the start of trading, an advance of as much as 8½ cents, as brokers with short March delivery commitments continued their almost frantic efforts to cover them.

At the opening of trading Monday there were short contracts totaling 690,000 bushels outstanding. There isn't that much wheat in Chicago. Result: The shorts must get wheat somewhere or cancel their commitments by buying in a soaring market.

Many of the shorts, unable to obtain actual grain, have bought futures, causing a spectacular upturn in March wheat.

Since Feb. 1 March wheat has advanced 80 cents a bushel. Traders say only two upturns in a similar period of time are comparable—during the First World War in 1917 and after the start of the Spanish-American War in 1898. The top price was $3.25 in 1917.

Trading will end in March futures at the close of March 22. The shorts have until then to cover commitments by making purchases. After that, they've got to deliver the actual grain by March 31.

Mills buying cash wheat in order to fulfill government contracts for flour complicate the problem for shorts. Railroad box car shortages, curtailing shipments, provide additional difficulties. One result is that cash wheat has soared with futures.

Cash wheat sold as high as $2.96 at Kansas City and $2.90 at Minneapolis Tuesday.

Suspect Charged With Murder Of Shot Prospector

SCHREIBER, Ont. (CP) — Charles Martin, 35, held at Port Arthur on a charge of forgery, will be charged with the murder of prospector Joseph Grant, 55, Inspector Frank Kelley of the Ontario Provincial Police, said today.

The frozen body of Grant, missing since early December, was found 175 yards from his cabin at Cook's Lake Monday. Police said he had been shot between the eyes. Search for the body of his assistant, 28-year-old Marcel Duchesneau of Quebec City, is continuing.

Inspector Kelley said the murder charge probably would be read to Martin when he appears in police court in Port Arthur Friday for preliminary hearing on the forgery charge. Martin, formerly of Vancouver, was arrested at Regina and returned to Ontario by Provincial Police.

Discovery of Grant's body in four feet of snow was made after a tireless three-week search which started when friends of the former Torontonian made queries as to his whereabouts.

HAMPERED BY SNOW

Police earlier were handicapped by huge drifts of snow blocking the road between Schreiber and the cabin Grant and Duchesneau—also known as Mike Duchesneau—had been using near their Cook's Lake mining property.

A bulldozer was recruited and last week-end police established headquarters at the cabin and made a thorough search of the district.

Police investigation disclosed the cabin contained papers, mining certificates and clothing. Stacks of dirty dishes found on the kitchen table also belied the theory that the two men had only moved their headquarters.

More Work Needed

LONDON (Reuter) — Prime Minister Attlee tonight warned bluntly that Britain could take a choice of earning more or cutting down on its standard of living and appealed to the people to give up high salaries for "useless" work and fortify essential industries with manpower.

In a broadcast to the United Kingdom, Attlee said Britain can maintain and even increase her standards of living provided that she organizes intelligently, makes full use of science and invention, avoids waste and "above all, works well."

3 Injured When Car Crashes Into Pole

The 1941 Ford sedan driven by Alexander Robertson, 2306 Newton Street, was wrecked when it collided head-on with a telephone pole at Douglas and Dupplin Streets last night. Robertson and Stanley McCarthy, 1157 Hilda Street, are in hospital. (See story, "Head-on Collision," page 9.)

New Offer Boosts Reward In Murder Case To $1,500

In another endeavor to stir public interest to reveal leads that will bring about the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Yuen Hing, otherwise known as Yuen Kim Hong, of Victoria, who died Feb. 21 as a result of a brutal assault 48 hours earlier, an additional $1,000 has been put up by a Vancouver Chinese society to boost the reward in the case to $1,500.

At the city police station today Chief of Police John A. McLellan received a notice from a mainland city firm of barristers enclosing a cheque for $1,000 from the 'Chau Luen Kon Sol Society' of that city to add to the reward of $500 offered a few days after the Chinese death by the Hook Sing Tong Society of Victoria.

The chief noted that his department is still continuing its investigations, with interviews being made every day, in an effort to stir up some clue that will lead to the culprit responsible for the death by inflicting dangerous head wounds. Hing died in Royal Jubilee Hospital without regaining consciousness.

"In spite of all our efforts we have not succeeded in uncovering anything of an encouraging nature," Chief McLellan said.

REWARD CONDITIONS

The Vancouver reward will be paid on certain conditions:

It will be paid to the person or persons giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who caused the injuries responsible for Hing's death.

The charge must be laid against the accused within six months from the date of the letter—which was March 14—or the money is to be refunded. If during the six months a charge is laid, the money is to be held by the police until the outcome of the charge is known. If information is given by more than one person, the police are to use their own discretion as to how the reward is divided.

The letter was signed by G. Mayell of Mayell and Shaw, barristers, 604 Randall Building, Vancouver.

Television Goes To Surgery Room

Surgeons will see a revolutionary new aid to medical education in action in Cleveland, Ohio, when actual operations are televised at the Cleveland Clinic. Photo shows an operation being prepared on seventh floor as overhead television camera picks up the movements. Coaxial cables take a close-up of the operation to two television screens on the ground floor, where 100 visiting surgeons will be given a closer look at the operation than a few doctors would obtain in the operating room.

Forrestal Tells Senate Unification Of U.S. Forces Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Forrestal told Senators today that unification of the armed forces into a single department would give the United States the force it needs to back up its foreign policy.

The Navy Secretary was the initial witness before the Senate armed service committee in behalf of legislation asked by President Truman to bring the army and navy under one cabinet officer and raise the air forces to co-equal status.

"This bill provides an organization which will allow us to apply the full punitive power of the United States against any future enemy," Forrestal said. "It provides for the co-ordination of the three armed services, but what is to me even more important than that, it provides for the integration of foreign policy with national policy."

The War and Navy departments have agreed, Forrestal said, that the present plan "is a sound and workable accommodation" between differing points of view.

In the event of another war, Forrestal said, both manpower and materials must be controlled to a greater degree than was done in the recent war.

"We should be sure, for example, that we do not induct into the armed services young men who are of greater value in the field of scientific research."

Rioting Spreads Through Punjab; Villages Raided

RAWALPINDI, India (Reuter) — Twelve days after the outbreak of rioting in the Punjab, murder and arson are still spreading through the northern districts and appalling casualty figures are expected when an adequate check can be made.

Indications are that virtually every village in the 10,000-square-mile area around this cantonment city has experienced murder and arson since March 5.

There are about 700,000 Moslems and 50,000 Sikhs and Hindus in the Rawalpindi area. So far about 20,000 Hindus and Sikhs have been counted into refugee camps. There is considerable anxiety about the remainder, since reports from many villages show that Sikhs and Hindus who failed to find refuge by flight or with Moslem protectors were murdered.

According to refugees, attacks on villages are usually made in the night, with raiders coming from neighboring villages.

Bidault Asks France Be Given Nazi Industry

MOSCOW (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Bevin and U.S. State Secretary Marshall today rebuked Foreign Minister Molotov for his recent charges against the western powers, including one that $10,000,000,000 in reparations had been removed from the western zones.

Bevin said Molotov's statements "are not true."

The eighth session was one of the coolest of the conferences to date. The charged atmosphere among the Big Four, which thus far had been most friendly, developed after Foreign Minister Bidault, had made a statement on France's demands for separation of the Ruhr, the Rhineland and the Saar from Germany.

Bidault told the Council Allied controls must be retained over Germany long after a peace settlement is concluded and the present occupation is ended.

Bidault, who conferred Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin, called primarily for rigid limitations of German coal and steel industries. He suggested France replace Germany as the great steel-producing power of Europe.

OPPOSES CENTRAL BOARDS

Bidault withheld France's agreement to British, U.S. and Soviet proposals for raising the level of German industry. He said the French view depended on what other controls were set up. He rejected the American-sponsored plan to set up central administrative agencies run by the Germans, pending decisions on Germany's frontiers. He evidently meant that decisions on the Ruhr, the Rhineland and the Saar must be reached first.

He called for a speed-up in reparations from the western zone, thus siding with demands by Foreign Minister Molotov. However, he declared that in line with the British and U.S. policies, Germany must pay for goods—mainly food—that she is now receiving from the Allied powers.

He stressed, above all, the French determination "that Germany shall no longer be able to use her mining and industrial resources in preparation for another war."

STALIN INTERESTED

Earlier there had been renewed indications that Prime Minister Stalin was taking an active, but behind the scenes, interest in the world problems confronting the Foreign Ministers.

The Soviet leader conferred for 95 minutes Monday night with Foreign Minister Bidault after a prolonged council session at which Foreign Minister Molotov had demanded $10,000,000,000 in reparations from Germany.

Bidault was the first of the three visiting foreign ministers to call on Stalin, but State Secretary Marshall and Foreign Secretary Bevin are expected to make such visits soon.

At Monday night's meeting—which lasted 4 hours and 15 minutes, the longest Council session yet—Marshall listened with cold calm to Molotov's long tirade against the western powers and then took a firm stand against any German settlement which would cost U.S. taxpayers more millions.

The basic American concern, in brief, is: "How quickly can we stop pouring dollars into Germany?" while the basic Russian approach seems to be: "How much can we get out of Germany?"

Although agreeing on several points, such as the need for German economic unification and raising the level of German industry as suggested by Molotov, Marshall and Bevin split sharply with the Russian Foreign Minister over the relative importance of reparations versus the problem of making Germany self-sustaining.

FIGHT GROWING

A stubborn fight is building up over the reparations problem and as usual in such situations there is speculation as to whether Stalin may eventually soften the Soviet position.

Molotov, in demanding a reparations program by which Germany would have to pay reparations of $10,000,000,000 over a 20-year period both from current production and capital goods, told the other foreign ministers that the German and Japanese war had cost Russia $357,000,000,000 and that the damage inflicted on Soviet soil by German armies and their allies amounted to $128,000,000,000.

(Official U.S. reports previously have fixed the cost of the war to the American people at $330,000,000,000. The United Kingdom's costs have been computed at $120,000,000,000; the French $192,000,000,000; and Germany $272,000,000,000. The total cost of all participants has been estimated at $1,116,000,000,000.)

Urge 'Monty' As Super-Planner

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was the centre of heated controversy today after Conservative suggestions that the Labor government appoint him "super-planner" to devise a solution for the British economic crisis.

Lord Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, touched off the word war last week in a speech saying:

"It is vital that we should have leaders at every level in all walks of life who are able to dominate the events that surround them."

Conservatives interpreted this as criticism of the government. Labor leaders argued it was merely "platitude."

Two Labor members of Parliament submitted questions which Prime Minister Attlee will answer in the Commons tomorrow.

Ban Daylight Time

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Legislature this afternoon rejected a request from Edmonton for the right to establish daylight saving time in the city. The clause was eliminated by the municipal law committee.

NIGHT SITTINGS START

First night sittings of the current session of the B.C. Legislature has been called for tonight at 8.30.

row about whether Lord Montgomery spoke with government permission and whether Attlee would give assurance that he would not "express such views again while holding office as Chief of the Imperial Staff."

The London Daily Mail, Conservative, said in a front-page editorial that "Montgomery calls for leadership—and there can be few better qualified to supply it." The Daily Herald, principal government supporter, replied that "Lord Montgomery is a brilliant general, but the idea that he would automatically succeed in solving the nation's economic problems is born of blind hero worship."

Truman Ending Florida Holiday

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — President Truman took a last fling at play today before returning to grips with international developments which brought his call for a showdown with world Communism. He will return to Washington tomorrow.

He has maintained silence on the international situation since his personal message to Congress last Wednesday urging authority to lend $400,000,000 to the Greek and Turkish governments to bolster their resistance to "totalitarianism" as an outgrowth of notice that Great Britain would be unable to continue financial commitments to the two countries.

100,001 Court Cases

TACOMA (AP)—The 100,000th court case in 81 years of records was filed in the Pierce County clerk's office Monday. A few minutes later case No. 100,001 was filed. Its title: "Law vs. Law."

Organizer Of General Motors Dies At 85; Made, Lost 2 Fortunes

NEW YORK (AP)—William C. Durant, 85, an organizer of General Motors, who twice held and twice lost control of the gigantic enterprise, died today.

Durant, shrewd "bull market" operator, died in his Gramercy Park apartment with his wife and nurse present. He had been ill since October, 1942.

Durant celebrated his 85th birthday last Dec. 8 with a statement that the consumer market needs "everything at home and abroad and that 'quality is more important today than ever before."

A super-salesman of ideas, Durant was organizer of the General Motors Corporation in 1908. Starting in 1896 with a capital of $1,000, part of it borrowed, he built and lost successive fortunes which at one time amounted to $90,000,000.

In February, 1936, however, he filed a petition in bankruptcy, listing assets of $250 against liabilities of $914,231.

A man of decided opinions, Durant hated tobacco and was an open foe of liquor, once offering a prize of $25,000 for the most practicable plan to make prohibition effective. In New York he worked in a sealed office. No one was permitted to open a window and smoking was strictly taboo. But he could sink his personal tastes to make money—one of his earliest jobs as a salesman was for a cigar manufacturer.

No Price Increase In Victoria As Egg Ceiling Lifted

No increase in the price of eggs has been noted in the provisions department of Victoria stores despite the announcement Monday that price ceilings would be removed today.

Grade A large are still selling for 42 cents a dozen.

"We have had no increase and do not anticipate one," said G. R. Fleming, manager of the provisions section of one department store. "There seems to be a surplus of eggs at the present time."

"Our prices are 42 cents for Grade A large; 40 cents for medium, and 35 cents for pullets."

With plenty of eggs available, manager of another provisions department found that there was no customer "run on eggs." He reported no change in price and none expected at the present time.

C.P.R. To Build $2,000,000 Ferry Terminal At Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—Plans for a land and sea terminal on the waterfront at this Vancouver Island entry port were outlined today by officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

They said the proposed new dock, which will replace existing wharf facilities, will include a passenger depot directly connected with an auto-station for freight trucks and a garage for servicing buses and trucks.

The combined ship, auto and truck terminal will provide direct ship-side connections between C.P.R. vessels on the Vancouver-Nanaimo run and buses serving Vancouver Island.

Announcement of the plan was made by W. S. Hall, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Vancouver.

The new terminus will replace existing wharf facilities of the C.P.R. at Nanaimo.

Preliminary work on the project is now under way and plans have been prepared by company engineers.

A new roadway from the proposed terminal will connect with main highways out of Nanaimo.

Building will include a modern, new passenger depot on the wharf which will be directly connected with the autobus station, a depot for freight trucks and a garage for servicing buses and trucks. A parking area for private cars has been allotted next to the passenger station.

The project is said to involve the expenditure of $2,000,000.

Search For 3 Fliers In Labrador Wilds

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (CP)—

One of the three U.S. airmen lost on the barren central tundra of Labrador since Thursday when a U.S. army Norseman aircraft went missing was one of two men rescued from the same area a month ago when another Norseman crash-landed, it was learned today. And another of the missing trio is the pilot who found him.

The man who survived one crash only to go missing again is Sgt. Patrick Hayes of Green Bay, Wis., and the pilot who followed his tracks in the snow on that occasion to effect a rescue is Lieut. Edward Tague of Boissier City, La.

The third missing man is Lieut. William Haemker of Lowell, Ind.

R.C.A.F. aircraft have covered 19,000 square miles of Labrador wastes in a fruitless search for the Norseman, which was on a flight from Cape Harrison, 150 miles northeast of here, to Goose Bay, when it was last reported.

OVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Caught With Bomb, Jew Sentenced To Death At Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Palestine government lifted martial law Monday after 15 days of British army rule, officially reported imposed to check violence by the Jewish underground, over sections of the Holy Land.

Some 25,000 of Jerusalem's Jews welcomed the end at noon in a virtual holiday spirit.

Martial law had cut off some 250,000 Jews from the rest of Palestine. The government proclaimed some success in the hunt for armed Jewish opponents of Britain's mandate policies, but violence continued Sunday night.

The Palestine government announced Sunday that military rule would be lifted from Jerusalem's Mea Shearim Jewish district and from 40 square miles of coastal plain running inland from Tel Aviv. It asked Jews to "intensify" co-operation with authorities against underground extremists.

Sunday night, as if in reply, a bomb damaged the press conference room of the Jewish Agency here, in what police termed the first recorded underground attack on that institution, official Jewish adviser to Britain. No casualties were reported.

Other explosions were reported to have injured three military policemen in a jeep and to have broken the Iraq Petroleum Company's Palestine pipeline at three points.

Shortly before martial law was lifted, a Jerusalem military court sentenced to death Moshe Barasani, 21-year-old Jew, for carrying a hand grenade. He had been arrested March 9 near the Jerusalem martial law area.

Barasani told the court that "as a soldier of the Jewish army" he refused to recognize its jurisdiction, demanding that he be treated as a prisoner of war. He read the Bible while prosecution witnesses spoke.

He was presumed from his description of himself as a "soldier" to be a member of the underground Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Big Drug Seizure

NEW YORK (AP)—Seizure of 459 ounces of heroin, valued at $1,147,500, in the black market—the largest such seizure ever made in the port of New York—was announced Monday by the collector of customs.

The narcotics were taken from the French freighter St. Tropes at its East River berth Sunday and a French sailor was arrested and charged with smuggling narcotics.

Jap General Freed

HONGKONG (AP)—Japanese Maj. Gen. Shoji Toshishige was acquitted Monday on charges of mistreating and killing Canadian and British prisoners-of-war captured during the conquest of Hongkong. A war crimes court accepted his contention that the prosecution had failed to prove definitely that his troops were involved.

R.C.A.F. Receives Helicopter

A new Sikorsky helicopter settled down at Montreal airport at Dorval, Que., on the last lap of a flight to Ottawa, where it soon afterward was officially received by high-ranking officers of the R.C.A.F. for use in training airmen. The craft flew from Bridgeport, Conn., to Montreal, with stops at Albany, N.Y., and Burlington, Vt., in four hours and 10 minutes. It has a cruising speed of 85 miles an hour.

Difficult To Cure Young Alcoholics

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A University of Texas chemist advanced the theory today that "an inherited metabolic pattern" causes excessive drinking among young people, and said in support of this theory that it was "practically impossible" to cure alcoholism in persons less than 28 years old.

The theory was discussed by Dr. Roger J. Williams, director of Texas University's biochemical institute, in an article in the current issue of the quarterly journal of studies on alcohol.

"It seems to be a highly significant fact that it is practically impossible to treat young alcoholics successfully," Dr. Williams wrote. "According to our hypothesis, these are individuals who have inherited a metabolic pattern which makes it possible for them to develop readily an intense appetite for alcohol."

"After a relatively few experiences with liquor, they begin to be addicted, and at an early age become serious addicts. Individuals who become alcoholics at a later age are, in line with our hypothesis, those whose susceptibility to craving is less pronounced and, hence, more easily dealt with."

Deficit Of $26,000 Forecast By Nanaimo Finance Committee

NANAIMO (CP)—A $26,000 deficit was forecast for Nanaimo, B.C., by Alderman Westwood, chairman of the city's finance committee, at a council meeting here last night.

"We do not want to increase taxes unless absolutely necessary, but we are facing a deficit of $26,000," he said.

Increased cost this year included $14,500 increased wages for civic employees, increase for schools, $4,000 extra for police work and $6,000 for fire hall improvements. There was a surplus of $15,000 last year.

Ald. J. S. Wilson suggested an increase charge for city services.

Mayor Muir believed that unless the "finance committee has an eye up their sleeve, there is only one resource."

The city rate is now 67 mills.

Diesnecker, 130 Others Win Beaver Awards

TORONTO (CP)—"Beaver Awards" for distinguished service to Canadian radio were presented here Monday night to radio personalities in a ceremony which to Canada's broadcasting world is the equivalent of Hollywood's annual "Oscar" presentation.

Presented by "The Canadian Broadcaster" and Richard G. Lewis, editor and publisher of the paper, the 12 Beaver Awards were handed over on the CBC feature, "Canadian Cavalcade."

Winners were: Dick Diesnecker, Vancouver; Babs Hitchman, Toronto; Ross MacRae, Toronto; Mary Gran- ran, Toronto; Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, Toronto; Len Headley, Toronto; Radio Station CICA, Edmonton; the program "Ontario Panorama" (Gordon Sinclair and Al Savage, Toronto); Claude Henri Grignon, St. Adele, Que.; William C. Borrett, Halifax; Ken McAdam, Ottawa, and Eve Henderson, Winnipeg.

All citations were for service to radio "beyond the performing fee or salary."

Dick Diesnecker, program director for station CJOR, Vancouver, was cited "for his program direction." His network feature broadcasts, "Parade of Life," "Salute to Industry," and "March of Progress," together with his daily newscast, "The Province at Ten," were specially mentioned.

Educated in Victoria, Diesnecker has been with CJOR since 1937. Obtaining leave of absence to enlist in the army, he was assigned to Pacific coast defence. Later he organized the radio department for Canadian Army Public Relations.

On discharge, he returned to CJOR as production chief and produced "Parade of Life," "Western Trails" and "Off the Beaten Track."

No Change Made In British Plan To Quit Greece

LONDON (Reuter)—President Truman's announcement of financial aid to Greece and Turkey makes no difference to Britain's plans for disposal of British troops in Greece, Hector McNeil, Minister of State, told the Commons Monday. Troops had been steadily reduced, he said, and would be reduced still further.

These men will be withdrawn as soon as practicable, McNeil said.

Answering a series of questions about the possible effect of the United States decision on British foreign policy and the consequent position of Greece and Turkey, he said he was not yet in a position to make a full statement.

When H. L. Austin, Labor, asked whether, in view of the "inflammatory" situation, he would consider making representations to the United States to think twice about offering aid to Turkey, McNeil replied with an emphatic "no sir."

Asked whether any request had come from the Turkish government at any time for assistance such as that foreshadowed in the American statement, McNeil replied: "We were aware of certain needs, military and economic, which Turkey had tabled."

Exempt Cricket

LONDON (Reuter)—Cricket Britain's national sport—is to be spared the ban imposed last week on all other crowd-drawing games, Home Secretary Ede announced Monday in a written Parliamentary reply.

Ede said the matter had been discussed with the Marylebone Cricket Club, with the result that the government had decided, because of the small crowds, no action need be taken. Other sports were banned to reduce absenteeism in industry.

Guilty Plea To 4 Charges By Youth In Court

Robert Davis, one of the four teen-age youths who were picked up by Provincial Const. Jack Lockie and Det. Const. Elmer Holm on March 10 in a car alleged to be stolen, pleaded guilty to four charges read against him in city police court Monday and was remanded to Wednesday for sentence by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

He pleaded guilty to being implicated in the armed robberies of Mrs. Emily Rogers in Esquimalt and Mrs. Laura Matthews at 246 Cook Street on the night of March 1, also to car theft and being in possession of a revolver without a permit.

Davis was a defence witness in the two charges of armed robbery read against Stewart Thomas and Daniel Doore Monday morning in the same court, the two being committed for trial. They are charged, with committing a robbery against Mrs. Matthews at gunpoint March 1, and another at Duncan March 10. Another defence witness was the youngster of the quartette who has been handled in juvenile court.

Thomas and Doore have other charges against them, to be heard in city court Wednesday.

Students To Train On Warrior, Cruisers

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy today announced plans for full-time naval training at sea and ashore for approximately 900 members of the University Naval Training Division, with about 450 taking training on each coast during the coming summer.

The navy said the first group of about 150 students from 17 Canadian universities would start training in mid-April. The aircraft carrier Warrior, the destroyer Nootka and two Algerine class escort vessels will be available for sea training from April onward. Other ships also will be available at various times.

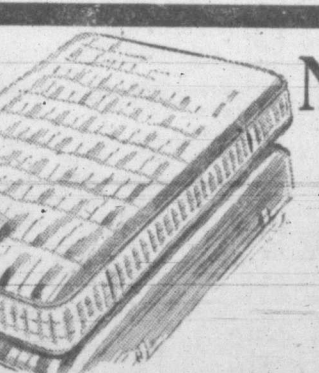

In addition to the two weeks' training required of every member of the U.N.T.D., there will be "voluntary service" available to a large number of students. This will give them special training in branches where work coincides with the courses they are taking at university, such as engineering, electronics, ordnance and naval construction.

Twenty-seven medical students are among the 900 trainees. West coast trainees will be trained initially in the cruiser Uganda and later in the cruiser Ontario, the destroyer Crescent and a frigate.

Universities represented include those of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Sea Returns Dead

LONDON (Reuter)—At Eccles on England's east coast the sea has returned its victims to the land. Winds and waves have washed away the sand which covered an old church, destroyed by the sea nearly 350 years ago, bringing to light fragments of pottery and skeletons from the ancient burial ground.

DiMaggio's Return Remains Indefinite

BALTIMORE (AP)—A skin-grafting operation on Joe DiMaggio's left heel was tabbed "successful" at hospital Monday but doctors still declined to speculate on exactly when the New York Yankee centre fielder will be able to start baseball training.

A small piece of skin was transferred from the back of Joe's right thigh to the inside of his left heel, where a raw wound had been left there by removal of a bone spur.

IS HISTORY TO REPEAT?

GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES have lost no time in rejecting the proposal that Germany be compelled to pay the Soviet Union $10,000,000,000 in reparations. All the world is fully cognizant of the enormous amount of physical and material destruction which the legions of the late and unlamented Adolf Hitler caused in Russia. Payment in any form, regardless of the amount, would never reimburse the Soviet Union and her people for sufferings impossible to document in detail. But when Foreign Commissar Molotov demands such a sum from a people at the moment so bewildered and poverty-stricken that they scarcely know where to turn for a crust of bread or a bottle of milk, he is ignoring the lesson which the operation of the reparations clauses of the Treaty of Versailles should have taught.

In view of the foregoing development at yesterday's session at the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow—apart altogether from the various aspects of the Russian case which every intelligent observer will appreciate—it would be advisable for all concerned to recall what happened to the reparations account which Germany was asked to pay under Article 231 of the Treaty of Versailles. Because so much has been written about the enormity of the original bill, and subsequently about the Dawes Plan, the Young Plan, and other formulas designed to compel the defeated Second Reich to pay for its misdeeds, any repetition of that procedure would seem to be asking for new trouble.

In the early spring of 1920, for example, the Allies—Great Britain, Belgium, France, Italy and Japan—met at San Remo and Hythe and discussed the methods of computing the liability of the former enemy countries and tried to devise ways and means of allocating the collections which they then hoped it would be possible to make. And it will be remembered that the Supreme Council instructed its own experts to make their computations as to what the size of the bill should be. In addition, moreover, a special Reparations Commission spent months on the case. In all of these deliberations, of course, the United States took no part; she was not interested in collecting from any member of the alliance known as the Central Powers. In other words, in approximately a year after the signing of the Treaty of Versailles, it was agreed that the reparations bill should be paid at the rate of a minimum annuity of three thousand million gold marks for 35 years, with a maximum aggregate of two hundred and sixty-nine thousand million gold marks.

It is not necessary at this late date to recapitulate the proceedings of the numerous conferences between Allied advisers and the economists in the 'twenties. The wild inflationary period through which Germany went under the dispensation of the Weimar Republic, the numerous attempts to stabilize the economy of the new Reich, and the final negotiation of foreign loans to assist Germany's recovery—all this procedure is still fresh in the memories of students of the international scene in the years immediately preceding the emergence of a political force which threw up Adolf Hitler. The upshot of all this business eventually was that, in 1931, the German government defaulted; and in the following year an arrangement known as the Lausanne Agreement made its appearance. But the Allied Powers refused to ratify this settlement unless the United States would correspondingly reduce her war claims against them. In the meantime, it will be recalled, Germany was permitted to continue her suspension of payments under an indefinite moratorium.

All will sympathize with Mr. Molotov's attempt to squeeze the last pfennig out of the resources of a nation which caused the Soviet Union so much physical and material damage. But it is to be hoped that the other Foreign Ministers now in session at the Russian capital will be able to persuade the men in charge at the Kremlin to heed the voice of reason in any consideration of a proposal which, to all intents and purposes, would seem to support the contention that it is possible to extract blood from a stone. And if Mr. Molotov is worried about the potential of a future rejuvenated Germany, he should also realize the impossibility of maintaining in perpetual serfdom nearly 70,000,000 intelligent, industrious, and inventive people. Neither Russia nor any other nation will contemplate with equanimity another war of revenge.

CHINA'S CORPORATIONS

ONE OF THE MEASURES TAKEN BY Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government is its stern endeavor to prevent economic disaster in China. It provides for the public sale to individuals or corporations of all government-operated enterprises except those necessarily requiring centralized operation. To what extent this is expected to provide the government with funds, or to halt "exchange" transactions in the black markets, is inextricably entangled with the political situation. But it would seem to indicate an effort to return to a "free market" and attract capital.

Sales of these government enterprises will be made either to individuals or corporations. In brief, it might be summarized as a return to granting government concessions to private enterprise for the development of large-scale operations such as coal, iron or other natural resources. Supposing a Canadian engineering corporation, for example, wanted to construct a dam for irrigating a large tract of land, or extend a railroad, which at the moment was operated by the government through its "party" officials, the corporation would be freed from the political entanglements which, according to all reports, have proved one of the principal difficulties in the reconstruction of Chinese economy.

In other words, that corporation could then go to the International Bank and obtain its approval for a bond issue to be floated in Canada. That is merely an example of how the transaction might be carried out by using the machinery now at the disposal of any "member" of the Fund or Bank. It indicates a new prospect of international co-operation through private enterprise.

FOR EFFICIENCY

EXPERTS EXPLAINING THE CAUSES of the depressed conditions in Britain's coal industry have frequently cited the lag in technological development as one of the more serious factors. In other words, operators failed to keep pace with the times, neglected to take advantage of greater mechanical efficiency and consequently suffered from lower output, or production under circumstances which alienated the labor force and left the industry in serious straits.

We mention the point to emphasize the importance of remarks by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, in Ottawa today. Mr. Howe forecast the expansion of the technical information service of the Research and Development Branch of his department as a result of the heavy volume of inquiries received from Canadian manufacturers and business men of a technical nature. The minister's gratification over this trend will be generally appreciated, and his plans to extend service to the Dominion's industry through expansion of the technical staff will be commended.

Under the system of free enterprise, cherished by the majority of Canadians, no opportunity should be lost of bringing the advances of science to the improvement of production. An increasing and efficient output of goods is of vital concern to all interested in raising Canadian standards. Moreover, in so far as technological advances reduce over-all costs of operation and stimulate a greater turnover, so will this nation be placed in a more favorable position to compete for world markets. Obsolescence is an expensive fault which this Dominion cannot afford in its present crusade to expand its trade. The alertness of manufacturers and businessmen to that fact, as shown by the inquiries received by Mr. Howe's department, is an encouraging sign to Canadians and is all the more heartening as a result of the government's apparent desire to co-operate.

'FANCY MISSIONARY WORK'

OUR NEIGHBORS ON THE SOUTH OF us will have to do "some pretty fancy missionary work" if they intend to sell the world their way of life or even hang on to it themselves. This is not our theory or opinion; it is a warning from Dr. Frederick Osborn, a reputable social scientist, who says that only 600,000,000 of the world's people share a tradition of self-government and freedom. And, according to his computation, the rest of the population of this planet—who, by the way, outnumber them by an even billion—are of "alien cultures in which life is held very cheap, and in which the individual and his right to the pursuit of happiness are negligible."

While the first group is barely holding its own, the second is growing. And Doctor Osborn believes it will increase by 400,000,000 in the next 25 years. Thus, he concludes that the "American way" is in danger of being swamped. This is a variation of a familiar theme. Well-meaning and ill-meaning people have warned of the threat to democracy or, in the Nazis' case, to "European culture" by the barbarians. But the Doctor's warning seems neither evil nor academic. His conclusions may be as broad as his figures are round, but they are nevertheless worthy of contemplation.

Perhaps Doctor Osborn would be easier to understand if he spoke in terms of governments rather than of persons, since many millions are unconscious of or indifferent to the choice between the two cultures. And he might also include the need of some missionary work in the economic as well as the political field. The world trend seems away from individual freedom in business. In some countries men have exercised their political independence to limit their private economic rights. But in others, like Russia and the neighboring nations she controls, private economic, civil, and political rights have been taken away without benefit of free election.

Some countries which still have a political tradition of freedom and self-government seem in imminent danger of turning to an "alien" economy to avoid collapse. Thus the "pretty fancy missionary work" which his thesis suggests might well start with them, if it is to be tried at all. A logical first step would be to see that none of the present 600,000,000 converts become backsliders.

At the present rate, China will soon be rid of unwelcome Americans. They will all be killed in plane wrecks.

Walter Lippmann

POLICY OR CRUSADE?

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S MESSAGE falls into two parts which may be considered separately. The first part is the argument for assistance to Greece and Turkey in the form of money, supplies, equipment, and of civilian and military personnel. The second part is a statement of "the broad implications involved" if the assistance is extended. It is this second part which requires the most careful examination and thorough debate.

For it is, as the lawyers would say, an obiter dictum, that is to "an expression of opinion . . . not forming an essential part of the reasons determining the decision." Thus there are sufficient practical, humanitarian, and strategic reasons why the United States should intervene in the Middle East to prevent, as Mr. Truman put it, "changes in the status quo in violation of the Charter of the United Nations by such methods as coercion, or by such subterfuges as political infiltration."

BUT SINCE THE REASONS ARE SUFFICIENT why Congress should vote the authority to intervene in the Middle East, it does not necessarily follow that it should endorse the idea that American interventions are henceforth to become general and global.

In respect to this second part which contains "the broad implications," the United States will do well to follow the advice which Alexander Pope gave to the poets, that they should compose with fury but should correct with phlegm. The implications are stated so vaguely, so broadly, so rhetorically that no workable policy can be deduced from them. They can mean everything, anything, or very little, and words of that sort, when pronounced by the head of a state in a time of intense crisis and of passionate confusion, are imprudent. The pronouncements of a powerful government should be defined and precise, lest they be taken as threatening more than it intends and as promising more than it can deliver.

FOR EXPERIENCE SHOULD HAVE taught the U.S. by this time that there are good reasons why a seasoned diplomacy is very chary indeed of the grand pronouncements of policy. "Today they are ringing the bells; tomorrow they will be wringing their hands." The practice of understatement, which Americans perhaps think of as peculiarly British, is in fact characteristic of experienced and responsible diplomacy everywhere. The big hot generalities, which the U.S. has loved so well when the primary responsibility in the world was not hers, are no longer for her. They are an indulgence which a great state must learn to eschew. For, they usually mean, as Elihu Root, I believe it was, once said, that first you shake your fist, and then you shake your finger.

The President's own statement illustrates this very tendency: "It must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures." . . . but "I believe our help should be primarily through economic and financial aid."

INSTEAD OF SUCH A LARGE PROMISE followed by a lame anticlimax, it would be better, much less dangerous, and far more effective to announce, not a global policy, but an American Middle Eastern policy. Instead of not naming the Soviet Union, it would be better to address the Soviet Union directly, and to say that in view of the pressure on Greece and Turkey, the United States is reinforcing them; that the U.S. object is to stop the invasion of Greece by bands armed and trained in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania; to make sure that the settlement between the Soviet Union and Turkey is negotiated and is not imposed by force; that behind the protection of this temporary special guaranty, the U.S. is contributing economic and financial assistance in order to revive and strengthen the national life of these two countries.

THE ADVANTAGE OF ADOPTING A precise Middle Eastern policy is that it can be controlled for the purpose of maintaining order. A vague global policy, which sounds like the tocsin of an ideological crusade, has no limits. It cannot be controlled. Its effects cannot be predicted. Every one everywhere will read into it his own fears and hopes, and it could readily act as incitement and inducement to civil strife in countries where the national cooperation of parties is delicate and precarious.

In Winter's Dress

In snow or sun, Tom, Little Qualicum Falls Park's favorite fawn, has a warm welcome for visitors.

The Parks Are Calling

WITH 54 provincial parks in British Columbia totaling close to 11,000,000 acres and with numerous land reserves for recreation purposes, British Columbia might well be known as the "Park Province."

Possibly the five best known of these 54 parks administered by the British Columbia Forest Service, are those located on Vancouver Island.

Considerable emphasis has been given to the increasing number of tourists visiting the island but too little importance is attached to the choice scenic areas that attract them and prolong their visits. Even with these parks in a partly developed condition only, and with popular Elk Falls Park closed last season, the registration books for the other four parks showed close to 30,000 visitors for the summer months. It is estimated that, if necessary park improvements could be undertaken, the number of guests could be easily tripled.

Only an 18-mile drive from Victoria on picturesque Saanich Peninsula lies John Dean Park. This 100 acres of virgin forest embraces the well-known look-out point, Mount Newton. From various vantage knolls there are magnificent views of the islands in the Straits of Georgia, busy coastal steamers and, on a clear day, snow-capped Mount Baker.

In the spring the slopes of Mount Baker are ablaze with wild flowers, flowering trees and shrubs. One of the most outstanding trees in the park is the dogwood whose beauty is known throughout the world.

During 1946, approximately 3,500 persons from all parts of the continent visited the park and from their recorded remarks few went away without words of praise and a promise to visit again.

ENGLISHMAN'S RIVER

Farther north and close to Parksville lies Englishman River Falls Park, with falls and rugged canyons among the most spectacular on Vancouver Island. The winding trails which follow the steep canyon walls offer fine views of the twisting river and cool green pools where tempting steelhead rest in their flight upstream. The 240 acres included in Englishman River Falls Park have great appeal to the camper, fisherman, and nature lover as was plainly evidenced by close to 5,500 visitors last summer. Plans for better road access and camp ground development, if carried out, will make an ideal park unit for these tourists wishing a relaxing scenic hideaway.

Little Qualicum Falls Park, just off the Alberni Highway is the best known island park. Possibly because of its easy access and perhaps because of its shady stream and picturesque waterfalls, a total of 14,000 visitors were welcomed in last year's four summer months. Considering that only the bare essentials of park development have taken place it is easy to see how better access, swimming pool, and picnic and camp ground developments will attract and help to prolong the stay of the holiday-makers.

STAMP FALLS

Stamp Falls, 424 acres in extent and located eight miles from Alberni is fortunate in its variety of attractions. Salmon by the thousands fight and leap their way up the rapids and pounding falls, watched by curious visitors. Less noticed but more interesting is the annual migration of lampreys through the same waters. These eel-like creatures with the suction mouthpiece provide an unforgettable object lesson in persistence.

The refreshing swimming pools are taken over in early morning and evening by the fishermen who, with fly rod or troll, may have the thrill of their lives in this famous fishing river.

The multi-colored blooms of spring flowers, shaded by flowering dogwood and lofty maples, or the fall coloring of the leaves as a background for the river is long remembered by all who seek relaxation in this island park.

REOPEN ELK FALLS

The largest park on Vancouver Island to come under the jurisdiction of the British Columbia Forest Service is Elk Falls Park containing some 2,805 acres. Closed last year because of extensive work by the British Columbia Power Commission the park will be open this summer to what is anticipated will be a record attendance. The well-known park is a "must" on every motorist's itinerary, and is famous for its primitive stand of large Douglas fir, the swimming pool and magnificent rainbow-hued falls. Although considerable water will be diverted for power conversion, the remainder of Campbell River within the park will maintain its scenic aspect.

The original park development work done 10 years ago under the Young Men's Forestry Training Program has been maintained as much as possible but now must be largely renewed. Development plans for the convenience of an increasingly number of visitors have been formulated for all the island parks but lack of funds has prohibited a start being made. This year approximately 50,000 persons will be guests of the finest scenic areas on Vancouver Island—"The best for our guests." No visitor should leave without the feeling that British Columbia is definitely the "Park Province."

Frank Good Will Could Dispel Distrust

By WICKHAM STEED

THE Foreign Secretaries and other members of the teams now playing in the game—or drama—of world affairs are too absorbed in it to watch the contest as a whole. As an onlooker of more than 50 years' experience I wish to say how I see it.

I think it looks like, but is not in reality, a game of cross purposes, a game in which each side is apt to misinterpret what the other side may say in an unguarded moment. Take, for example, the chance phrase used by Mr. Ernest Bevin in the House of Commons recently. Mr. Winston Churchill had charged him with "18 months' protracted delay" in bringing the problem of Palestine before the United Nations. Mr. Bevin answered that he much regretted this "rhetorical display about protracted delay" because he and another minister had diligently sought to solve the Palestinian problem "in the midst of a world crumbling to disaster from war."

WRONG INTERPRETATION

An honest and able statesman, though he is, Mr. Bevin has not been trained to use precise diplomatic language. Not long ago the Soviet government mistook the meaning of some words he had said, and of others he had omitted, in a broadcast account of Britain's foreign policy. Now lest his phrase about the "world crumbling to disaster from war" be misunderstood, I think it well to say what I believe it meant. I take it to have meant not that he looks upon the world as "crumbling to disaster" but, that the spectacle of the world which immediately after the Second World War appeared to be crumbling to disaster had not prevented him and his colleagues from seeking to solve the Palestinian problem.

The same may be said of expressions used upon the policy of Soviet Russia by Mr. Dean Acheson, Under-Secretary of State for the U.S. Mr. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, protested against those expressions as being "blatant slander and hostile to the Soviet Union." General Marshall has answered Mr. Molotov by saying that "under our (United States) standards a restrained comment on a matter of public policy is not slander. Therefore, I know that on second thoughts you will not attribute hostility to frankness."

TURN FOR THE BETTER

Unquestionably the failure to find an agreement for control of atomic energy would render the international outlook very serious. General Marshall, Secretary of State, told the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate recently that politically "the world is in a very critical condition." In the latter part of February when the United Nations Security Council received the Russian proposal for immediate outlawry of atomic weapons, the Polish delegate said if these weapons were not outlawed the work of a Disarmament Commission would be futile. "I believe that distrust sits at our table as the thirteenth delegate casting a veto on all our endeavors."

What is one to make of these utterances? As an onlooker I seem to see the point at which things might take a turn for the better if one fundamental misunderstanding could be cleared up.

MISINTERPRETATION

Soviet Russia, unless I am wholly mistaken, does not regard her policy as "aggressive and expanding" but as protective and defensive against "what she wrongly conceives to be hostile tendencies of the Western world. On the other hand since the governments of the Western world cherish no hostile tendencies toward the Soviet Russia they are apt to interpret Russian precautions as "aggressive and expanding."

This is the fundamental misunderstanding. With frank good will it should be possible for statesmen to dispel it at the present conference in Moscow. All their countries urgently need assured peace. Soviet Russia, as much as any. As an onlooker I see no compelling reason to think their efforts will fail.

MINORS DRINKING

Halifax Herald
There is revived talk about drinking among minors. We wouldn't know . . . but we do know what the law says about it and what the term "minor" signifies within the meaning of the liquor laws of this Province. And if there is drinking among minors in Nova Scotia, the first question is: "How do they get the liquor?"

SQUEEZED DEW

Edmonton Bulletin

The building of Utopia in Saskatchewan, like many more tangible construction ventures, has reached an impasse. Mr. C. M. Fines, the provincial treasurer, confesses that the program of social services and economic development must halt for want of sources of revenue. Mr. Fines says, in effect, that everything that can be taxed has been taxed until it can bear no more.

The conclusion to be drawn is that if all the promised blessings of Socialism are to be had, must be at the expense of those who would ultimately pay in the long run in any event—the worker and the farmer.

CANADA'S BUSINESS

Ottawa Citizen

To permit the Soviet embassy cypher clerk, Igor Gouzenko, to appear before the Washington House of Representatives committee on "un-American activities" would be an inexcusable blunder on the part of the Canadian government. Even to allow evidence to be taken from his for the purposes of this inquiry would be a mistake. It is to be hoped that the committee will make no such request.

The official secrets cases are purely Canada's business. They have not done us credit—either in the way they were investigated at the outset, or in the discovery that Canadian employees holding positions of trust should be willing for any consideration to divulge secrets they were pledged to protect. The United States, however, is in no way concerned in these unfortunate happenings and a reopening of the investigation in Washington for that is what it would amount to—would benefit nobody.

PROPAGANDA AND FACTS

Winnipeg Free Press

The Palestine problem sufficiently complex without being made still more difficult by Zionist propaganda. Yet Winnipeg citizens have recently been treated to another example of argument based upon an incomplete statement of the facts. Zionist visitor from Britain, Mr. Barnett Janner, said in an interview last Thursday:

"The White Paper on Palestine contrary to the Mandate, encouraged the Arabs and cut down Jewish immigration, and as far as the old League of Nations was concerned it was an illegal document. Only the British government accepted it as legal."

This charge of "illegality" has become, through constant use, one of the consecrated slogans of Zionism, its relation to reality, however, tenuous in the extreme.

PATTERN FOR INDUSTRY

Ottawa Journal

The International Harvest Company of America announces that it will put into effect before April 1 a series of price cuts that will save its customers $20,000,000 a year. This action, being taken, the company says because of belief that all industry has been caught in a "vicious circle" of progressively rising prices, wages and profits.

"We believe strongly that the best way to distribute the gain of rising productivity is through lowering prices. We are cutting now, although there is ever promise that we can sell everything we can make this year at next at present prices."

What would happen if this became a general pattern for industry and for labor—is an interesting speculation. The result might well be that while everybody would have to take a little less now, everybody would have more in the end.

For Delinquents

U.K. Information Office

AN IMPORTANT factor in the widespread network of social welfare work in Britain today, the Women's Police Force, with so many other things, Britain, the Women's Police Force originated in an unofficial and voluntary effort. They specialized in protective and disciplinary work among children and adolescents, and trained to deal with each problem in the light of individual circumstances, are authorized to use their personal discretion as much as their official powers. This discretion is particularly valuable in dealing with children and adolescents. It has been found that both child and adolescent delinquents respond far more readily to handling by women police than men, particularly in the case of young girls. Frequently, a policeman will get in touch with the girl's parents, and often do much to re-establish in a happy and satisfactory home life, a girl who may have been drifting in a bad company.

Girls! Here's Nylons For Everyone At Last!

By MARGUERITE HANCOCK

"Look! Nylons for sale!" These words have been uttered by thousands of stocking-starved women during the past two weeks.

Yes, at last Victoria shops may now boast an unlimited supply of the much-in-demand nylon hosiery. Reveling in the ability to display these filmy, sheer, leg-glamorizers, many stores have used nylons to highlight their window arrangements.

The feminine populace, ranging from the tender age of 10, to more stately grandmothers in the sixties and seventies, have flocked to hosiery counters and have been pleasantly surprised when the eager-to-please salesladies suggest they purchase two pairs of stockings the same shade in order to obtain longer wear.

SHADES AND SIZES

Besides being able to purchase more than one pair of hosiery, customers may also have their choice of shades, which come under such exotic titles as Sky Dawn, Symphony, and Charm. These range from light tan to the deeper pinky brown. The darker shades, although not actually "pencil seams," give that appearance. And, miracle of miracles, hosiery may also be purchased in different gauges, ranging from 42 to the filmy sheers at 51 gauge.

"Of course, we do run out of sizes," one saleslady remarked. "The most popular are 9½ and 10. Customers believe that nylons must be worn a size larger than other hose because they do not stretch, but fit closely to the foot."

Some of the taller women have not the choice of other customers, as only about two dozen longer-length stockings may be included in a shipment of 50 dozen hose.

Finding great favorite with the teen-agers are the seamless stockings, which release the wearer from that constant query, "Are my stockings seams straight?"

UNLIMITED SUPPLIES

The new luxury of having an unlimited supply of nylons on hand for customers, is much more to the liking of sales clerks than the days of "queuing."

"Life is so much easier, we feel we're beginning to live again," one group chorused.

"We have more time to devote

to individual customers, to get to know them better and to find out whether they require any other articles," another saleslady stated.

"If I were a writer, I could turn out a book on the attitudes of different buyers," one saleslady said, on being questioned about her experiences with customers during the days when nylons were hard to get. "Some women would enter the shop, almost furtively and whisper, 'Have you any kind of hosiery at all,' while others would march in and demand a pair of stockings on the grounds that 'I was talking to Mrs. Jones, and she got a pair here less than an hour ago.'"

"It's amazing, too," remarked

one girl, "the change that has come over customers, now that hosiery is more easily obtained. While everyone is pleased, customers are becoming choosy. Some women want nothing but the most sheer stockings and in some instances have returned hose to the store because 'they are not quite the right shade,' or 'they have a tiny snag in them.'"

Stocking mending establishments report that the new surge of hosiery on the market has made no great change in their trade.

"Although, we used to get mends costing as much as one dollar," one of the girls said, "most of the stockings coming in now have only small runs."

"While nylons are selling at the rate from $1.35 to $1.95, I don't think the mending business will suffer," she said with a laugh.

Crepes and rayon hosiery are available and are bought mostly by the middle-age group and the sheer chiffon stockings are in stock in some stores once or twice monthly.

The stocking situation at the present time, is a far cry from that of a little over a year ago, when thousands of persons stood in queues blocks long in order to obtain one pair of the first released nylons. Men, too, under the coercion of feminine threats and wiles, waited more than an hour for stores to open in order to secure a pair of the ever-so-precious prizes.

What's New Around Home

Added Interest—Deeply recessed windows can be papered around both sides and right over the top. This adds interest and design to the window and still allows the use of plain sheer curtains for added light.

Show Off—Give your cabinets or cupboards a bright coat of paint on the inside to show off your most prized accessories against it—old china, milk glass, sparkling crystal or maybe a collection of little figurines or old bottles.

Make Them Important—Knick-nacks have a way of collecting on little tables and the mantel. So that they'll really seem important, gather together all the trinkets you love. Put them in a hanging shelf framed with bright wallpaper, show them off with pride.

Waffle Iron Test—To test the waffle iron, use a piece of paper. If the iron is just hot enough the paper will brown in about half a minute. If it takes longer to brown the iron is too cool.

Clean Floors—Footprints left by certain types of composition rubber soles on your clean floors can be avoided if soles of new shoes are waxed before wearing, and re-waxed occasionally.

Magazines Piling Up—And no place to put them? Take the back issues you can't give housing room and clip the articles you're interested in. Cover an accordion file with a plaid paper, stow different subjects in specially labeled sections.

Furniture Arrangement—Be sure your end tables are the height of the arm of the chair or sofa beside them. Let the coffee table be an inch lower than the seat. Buy in pairs, end tables, straight chair and such.

Dorothy Dix

ENERGETIC BUSINESS WIFE
WILL NEVER CHANGE GOOD
BUT AMBITIOUS MATE

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am an energetic business woman, married to a man who is charming, good and kind, but absolutely without business initiative. He fails at everything he undertakes and that gets on my nerves. I am tired of supporting the family. Is there any way I can change him?—Disgusted.

Answer: Nobody can put pep into the peeps, nor insert a backbone into the spineless. Especially can no wife work such a miracle on her husband. If his own sense of responsibility and his own pride do not overcome his inertia and cause him to get a job and stick to it, nothing that anybody can say or do to him will spur him into action.

About the only thing that a woman with an inefficient husband can do to improve her lot is just to accept his shortcomings as a fixed fact that she cannot alter, and stop wasting her own energy and ruining her disposition fretting over it. Let her admit to herself that no tears or entreaties of hers are going to change him into a go-getter, and that it is useless to pray and hope for the impossible to happen.

Whether the wife of an incompetent man shall support him or not is her own individual affair. Personally, I hold to the old doctrine that "he that will not work, neither shall he eat." But few women have the courage to shut the doors on their lazy husbands.

Exclusive Homogenization Process Makes
Libby's Baby Foods Ten Times
Finer in Texture

Because a baby's digestive system is immature, his first fruits and vegetables often cause digestive upsets. Even foods which have been carefully strained contain many coarse fibres and unbroken food cells, and they require over two hours for complete digestion.

But Libby's Foods, which are first strained and then Homogenized, may be completely digested in about thirty minutes. This is because Libby's exclusive Homogenization process explodes the food cells to release the nourishment. The extra

M.L.A.'s Want Early Start On Medical School At U.B.C.

A charge that the government was "passing the buck" in the matter of establishing a medical school at the University of B.C. was made by Harold E. Winch, C.C.F., Opposition Leader, in the B.C. Legislature Monday.

It appeared, the C.C.F. leader said, that there was a holding back until a full-scale establishment of a medical school could be secured. He said the government could, if it wanted, tell the board of governors of U.B.C. what should be done, adding that the government's "passing the buck" to the U.B.C. governors was not necessary, U.B.C., he added, did not need all the money that had been demanded and the university now could make a good start on a medical school on what had been allocated for it this year.

In reply, Education Minister G. M. Weir argued there was nothing in the University Act which said the government should establish a medical school. He pointed out that the act used the word "shall" with regard to the governors, and the word "may" so far as the provincial government was concerned. The minister did not think the government could do anything more than it had already done.

Regarding suggestions no province should have a medical faculty until that province had a 2,000,000 population, the minister said if the argument were followed through, Canada, with eight medical schools, was ahead of itself, and should only have six.

Opposition Leader Winch termed the minister's reply "a masterpiece of evasion," and said he still wanted to know when a medical school would be established. "We don't know one thing more than we did 15 minutes ago," he said.

He argued, in turn, portions of the University Act limited the financial actions of the university board of governors until the approval of the government was received. If the government had been more direct and forthright in saying what it wanted, B.C. would be further ahead in the settlement of a medical school than it was now, he suggested.

SAYS SCHOOL ESSENTIAL

If the government were serious about that establishment of such a school, he said, it would tell the university to go ahead and make a start on the $1,500,000 set aside by the government and, if necessary, make out the necessary warrant for the extra money.

Mrs. T. J. Rolston, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey, said "We have played around with this subject long enough," referring particularly to the 500 pre-medical students now at U.B.C., many of them veterans, who could not afford to wait for the establishment of a medical school here. "If we can make some recommendation... let us do it... we must have a medical school," she said.

Arising again, Education Minister Weir said the U.B.C. board of governors was not bothered by sections of the University Act but by the number of commission reports, so many that "they don't know where they are."

The question was not simple, the minister continued, and the answer did not rest with the government. At present, he told the Legislature, the government had not the legal right to do anything to interfere with what the board of governors did, nor to tell it what to do.

E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, maintained the longer establishment of the medical school was delayed, the longer the public would have to do without adequate health facilities. The university should begin establishment of the school with what it had, he said.

H. J. Welch, Coalition, Comox, reminded the Legislature there was a resolution coming up concerning the medical school and asked the vote on the question stand until that time.

Shamrocks Adorn Premier's Desk

In honor of St. Patrick and Irish-born Premier John Hart the B.C. Legislature Monday prominently displayed green.

Premier Hart's desk was decked out with a pot of shamrocks and other green flowers. The Premier and several other legislators wore sprigs of shamrock in their buttonholes.

Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch started the exchange of felicitations before the House got down to business in committee of supply.

Mr. Winch said he was wearing his shamrock because he subscribed to the Irishman's policy of being "again the government." While wishing the Premier the "luck of the Irish" for health, Mr. Winch added: "Damnation to him politically." Mr. Winch hoped the Premier would soon go to his homeland.

Thanking the Opposition Leader for his felicitations, Mr. Hart said he was not yet ready to "go back to the old sod."

Witnessing the proceedings of the House was H. G. T. Perry, formerly education minister and speaker.

Harold Winch Urges Racial Tolerance

"Before we tell the world to fix up its backyard, we should fix up our own front yard," Harold E. Winch, Leader of the Opposition in the B.C. Legislature, told members of the Victoria Gyr Club at Monday's luncheon held at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Winch said that while racial prejudices existed we would live on the brink of another war. "How can we expect true international democracy and world understanding when we tolerate Hitlerism in our own country?" Mr. Winch asked.

"We see power politics being played today as it has never been played before," he said. "Every country is fighting for markets and dominating spheres of influence. It is about time we realized that it was such an ideology and viewpoint which led us to strife and suffering in the past," Mr. Winch said.

The new Canadian Citizenship Act, Mr. Winch said, was not democratic inasmuch as it created first and second class citizens.

"In our own province it is the law that only white-skinned people may work for the provincial government. During the war, when labor was hard to find, this particular statute was overlooked and yellow-skinned people were employed in Crown logging camps. In two months the government plans to again enforce this law and 400 families will be forced to seek their living elsewhere," Mr. Winch said.

"If we are going to let these people come into our country at all, we should treat them as our equals," he said.

The path to peace and prosperity was one of responsibility, he said, first in the individual, then in the group, in the province, in the nation and finally reaching the international plane.

Putnam Forecasts Another Increase In Price Of Milk

Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam told the B.C. Legislature Monday he was frankly worried milk prices in B.C. may rise again.

"It looks very much like we'll have to raise the price again, but I hope not," he said, adding milk prices would not be raised if it were possible to keep them down.

If the price is raised shortly it would represent the third rise in milk prices within the past year, two two-cent per quart increases having been effected to take care of consumer and producer subsidies removed by the federal government.

Mr. Putnam said the Milk Board's order requiring that cash or tickets be made as payment for all milk delivered to homes, was an economy move to keep milk prices down. Likewise the board has ordered against special deliveries and janitors' commissions for deliveries within apartment buildings.

J. H. Cates, Coalition, North Vancouver, said if the price of milk were going to rise the government should give serious consideration to paying a subsidy to producers to ward off the rise.

J. H. Corsbie, C.C.F., Peace River, contended milk price should be increased so that farmers would receive a greater return for their labors.

"I think milk is entitled to go up," he said, adding that no other food provided as great a value as milk, and beer costs 50 cents a quart.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Coalition, Yale, questioned why milk prices should rise. If the increase were caused by rising delivery costs, urban citizens should have the opportunity to get their own milk, he suggested.

A. R. MacDougall, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey, contended the order of the Milk Board outlawing credit for milk delivery was wrong in principle, a hardship on many people, discriminatory and unenforceable. He asked Mr. Putnam to have the order repealed forthwith.

Pay Suggested For B.C. School Trustees

Education Minister G. M. Weir has considered making arrangements to pay school trustees for their services but at the present time he does not think it is a good idea.

Dr. Weir told the B.C. Legislature Monday that he had studied proposals to pay school trustees made by educationalists in the United Kingdom and the United States but they did not look on it very favorably.

He said some U.S. authorities had held that better service was given if trustees were not paid. This policy, he suggested, might result in some contending municipal councillors should not be paid.

"And members of the provincial Legislature," added Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch, who had suggested it was time for B.C. to consider paying trustees.

Dr. Gillis Pleads Stenographers' Case

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Coalition, Yale, Monday asked the B.C. Legislature to consider the fate of the $1.7 a week government stenographer.

He charged the government's civil service commission looked after the men in the higher brackets but wouldn't touch salaries in the lower brackets. He wondered how government stenographers could exist in Victoria on $840 a year.

Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson reminded him that the stenographers received almost $20 a month cost-of-living bonus beside their salary.

Want B. A. McKelvie As B.C. Historian

Education Minister G. M. Weir told the B.C. Legislature Monday he believed some arrangement may be worked out to have Bruce A. McKelvie employed by the government as British Columbia historian.

Dr. Weir was answering a question of Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch.

"I am just as anxious as he that we should obtain the services of Mr. McKelvie," said Dr. Weir. Mr. Winch suggested the government should go further than it had to secure the services of Mr. McKelvie and perhaps work out a deal with his employer, the Vancouver Daily Province.

"A MURDER HAS BEEN ARRANGED"

By Emily Williams

CAST:
Miss Grace..... Patricia Woodward
Mrs. Wragg..... Audrey Woodward
Jimmy North..... Bob Birkett
Bolt as Jasper..... Tony Foss
Mrs. Arthur..... Alda Kroeger
St. Charles Jumper..... J. Q. Gillan
Maurice Mullins..... C. W. Devey
A Woman..... Kay Roberts

Directed by H. J. S. Reynolds

The Victoria Little Theatre opened its doors to ghosts, sinister legends and murder, Monday night. The presentation was Emily Williams' murder-melodrama about an elderly actor who challenges the unseen with a grotesque birthday dinner on the stage of London's deserted St. James Theatre.

The subsequent events revolve about his beautiful young wife, her tyrannical mother, the double-dealing secretary, a strange young man, a sinister and long-lost relative and a dumb woman; all of whom find themselves trapped in the echoing emptiness of the theatre, with an unseen, terrifying presence lurking in the dark corridors.

If the play had been a better one, the cast would no doubt have been excellent. As it was, they were competent, but at a disadvantage in situations that were artificial, and awkwardly contrived. This play lacks everything that Mr. Williams' "Night Must Fall" (brilliantly done by the Little Theatre some years ago) had in large measure.

Joan Pope and Alda Kroeger were well cast and as convincing as it was in their power to be. Both actresses have a good sense of tempo and their team work was the best of the evening. An outstanding newcomer was Audrey Woodward, whose Mrs. Wragg, the jittery house-keeper, was a nice piece of character work. Kay Roberts had a difficult assignment in the dumb woman, but she carried it off well. Another newcomer, showing definite promise, is Patricia Woodward.

J. Q. Gillan was well suited to the role of Sir Charles, but C. W. Devey was too consistently available for the ominous Maurice Mullins. Bob Birkett played with sincerity throughout, though at times he seemed a little too subdued.

Mildred Hamlet was responsible for stage setting, and the Little Theatre orchestra, under Mr. Press, played during the evening. The play will be repeated tonight.

Injures Passengers

A head-on collision with a telephone pole on the southwest corner of Duppil Road and Douglas Street late last night sent three persons who were riding in a 1937 Ford sedan to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from injuries. Sgt. Eric Elwell, who attended the scene with Constable Walter Mycock of the Saanich Police, reported today.

The impact nearly severed the pole, cracking it so badly it will have to be replaced.

Alexander Robertson, 2306 Newton Street, the driver, is in hospital with a possible fractured pelvis and leg; Stanley McCarthy, 1157 Hilda Street, suffered head injuries and is also in St. Joseph's. Attendees at the hospital reported today both spent a comfortable night. Miss Jerry Eastwood, aged 15 years, 231 Ontario Street, was released after facial cuts and an injured knee had been attended to.

The car was proceeding toward town on Douglas. The driver lost control, the car running off the road and colliding with the pole at the intersection of Duppil.

Minor injuries were also suffered by Harold W. Stewart, 2270 McGill Street, when the car he was driving struck a telephone pole on the Johnson Street extension and turned over. At Royal Jubilee Hospital he was treated for scratches and bruises and was released.

Proceed With Juvenile Home; Esquimalt Refuses Support

The City Council intends to proceed with the establishment of a juvenile detention home at 1527 Coldharbour Road despite protests from neighboring residents. It was made clear at Monday's council meeting.

At the same time, at its meeting Monday evening, Esquimalt Council decided it would have nothing to do with assisting in the capital expenditure to obtain the detention home, nor were the councillors willing to contribute toward the operation of the home.

The city purchased the home last week, paying the full purchase price on the understanding that the other three municipalities would pay their share on the same percentage basis as they contribute toward the costs of the juvenile court. The provincial government is also being asked to contribute. Esquimalt's share would be 7 per cent of the total.

Esquimalt councillors stated they wanted to continue the same arrangement as at present, securing detention facilities from the city and paying a per capita rate. Councillor J. R. Guillemaud queried if there was any intention of raising the per capita cost once the new home is established.

Letters were received from Crease, Davey & Co. on behalf of some residents, and also a petition signed by 124 residents of the district.

Ald. Margaret D. Christie, chairman of the special detention home committee, declared there would not be many children in residence at any time, that all the children will be well cared for and carefully supervised.

She pointed out there are now more than 150 foster homes in the city where children are looked after, and in most instances the neighbors are not aware of the character of the homes. She insisted the establishment of the home would be no detriment to surrounding property and that they would not be aware of the use to which the house is being put.

Ald. Edward Williams took strong exception to the phrase in the letter from Crease, Davey & Co., which referred to the child inmates as of the criminal class. "They are not criminals until they have been so judged by the juvenile court," he asserted. "Many who await trial in the detention home may be acquitted." A letter calling this to the attention of the lawyers will be sent from the City Council.

Ald. H. M. Diggon suggested that the City Council write R. W. Mayhew to find out if the anti-gas school at H.M.C.S. Naden could be made available to the city for any purpose. This was suggested as an alternate site for the detention home in the petition.

Lions Club Venture Supported By City

The Lions Club were given wholehearted support of the City Council at Monday's meeting in their venture to establish cottage homes for aged couples in the city.

The four-acre plot of city-owned land adjacent to the Crow-Baker Home on Gorge Road will be leased to the club by the city for $1 a year, and the $5,000 remaining in the Centenary Fund will be turned over as the nucleus of the finances to build the homes.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar reported that the provincial government is also interested in the project and it is hoped to get some financial support from the senior body.

Repair Program For Victoria Schools

A tentative program for construction and repairs in Greater Victoria schools was adopted by Greater-Victoria School Board Monday night.

Tentative program is: Esquimalt High, enamel seven rooms, repair plaster where necessary, continue work on new playing field, renew gates and repair furnace; Mount Douglas High, repair asphalt tennis court and repair fencing and backstop; Victoria High, make alterations to offices and refinish remainder of cafeteria tables; Central Junior High, build new baseball stops; Burnside, resurface playground floors and install additional door from stage; Gordon Head, repair furnace and alter hot-air duct to teachers' room and redecorate school throughout Easter holidays; Oak Bay High, build table for health clinic; Oak Bay Pre-primary, build sand-box, teeter-totter and low slide (Monterey and Wilow P.T.A. are prepared to pay some cost), and build 25 sets of library shelves in all schools.

Hint 5-Day Week Still Considered For Civic Staff

Possibility that the City Hall might go on a five-day week in the not too distant future was hinted at Monday's City Council meeting.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar brought forward a motion which will give civic employees a four-day holiday over the Easter week-end, from Friday to Monday inclusive, and this is to be set as a civic policy in future.

Ald. Edward Williams immediately queried why not a holiday from Friday to Monday every week? Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the civic service committee, replied, "That will come in good time. We must take these things one at a time."

City Council Briefs

The question of granting a civic half holiday for May 1 as requested by the Victoria Labor Council was tabled by Monday's City Council meeting for further consideration. Ald. W. L. Morgan moved the permission for the holiday be granted but could not get a second. Ald. H. M. Diggon moved the tabling motion.

The City Council approved sale of 18 parcels of city-owned land to 14 citizens, four of them veterans, for a total of $13,093.

Crescent Shows were granted permission to stage their circus at Blanshard for 1947 only during the May 24 celebrations. Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said the show could not be located there once the improvements on Blanshard Street are completed.

The question of whether or not the city parks department should undertake the maintenance of the Jubilee Hospital grounds, as requested by the board of directors, was referred to the parks committee for further discussion, by the City Council. The committee recommended it must maintain its own grounds, but Ald. H. M. Diggon, city representative on the hospital board, wanted further negotiations before the project was finally rejected.

The City Council approved the purchase of a new engine for the boat at Sooke Lake, costing $300 which Ald. F. N. Cabellu, chairman of the water board, said was needed immediately.

Esquimalt Has Tire Mystery

The wheels of Esquimalt's wheelbarrow may go round—but not on rubber tires.

In fact that is the trouble. The rubber tired wheels are gone and their disappearance caused some consternation at Monday night's meeting of the Esquimalt Municipal Council.

"At one time they were locked in the vault," said Councillor G. R. Guillemaud. "What happened to them?"

Council Right To Control Tree, Shrub Plantings Queried

Monday's City Council meeting found itself in difficulties when it attempted to authorize a by-law which would prohibit property owners from planting trees or hedges within 18 inches of the street property line.

Ald. Edward Williams queried if the City Council had this power, and City Solicitor A. J. Patton admitted that to pass the by-law would certainly be an infringement of personal property rights.

"Yes, but have we the power to so infringe these rights?" questioned Mayor Percy George. Ald. R. A. C. Dewar and Ald. F. G. Mulliner could see no difference in regulating the position of trees and shrubs and in regulating the position of houses and garages. Mr. Patton interjected that under zoning laws the city had special powers regarding the placing of buildings.

Ald. Dewar then wanted to know if the city didn't already have some by-law regarding the placing of fruit trees. Mr. Patton couldn't answer this so the whole matter was given to him for report.

City Turns Down Zoning By-law

The City Council at Monday's meeting almost passed the contentious rezoning of the corner of Douglas and Humboldt Street to permit building of a garage there before members woke up to what they were voting about.

The by-law had passed second reading and gone into committee stage before Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, sponsoring the by-law, warned members that they had unanimously voted for the rezoning.

In a surprised manner, aldermen hurriedly examined the copy of the by-law before them.

Ald. H. M. Diggon protested the second reading had been taken again as it was not fair to "put across the by-law in this manner."

Ald. Dewar remarked it had been his intention to call attention to what the by-law was about but the mayor had put the question too fast, and the aldermen had assented before he could get to his feet.

The council back-tracked, wiped the motion for second reading and committee stage off the books and proceeded to defeat the by-law on a vote of five to four. Second reading requires a two-thirds majority for passage.

On the recorded vote Mayor Percy George, Ald. Edward Williams, Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, Ald. Margaret Christie and Ald. W. L. Morgan supported the by-law. Opposing it were Ald. B. J. Gaden, Ald. H. M. Diggon, Ald. J. D. Hunter and Ald. F. G. Mulliner.

Remake Centre

Greater Victoria School Board will take over the remake centre in the Market Building. It was decided at a meeting of the board Monday evening.

In the education report, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith told the board the remake centre, at present operated under Dominion government auspices, would soon terminate. She recommended that the board take over the class so the work may continue under the same instruction and the same conditions as night classes, but in the daytime.

Such action would create little or no expense for the board, she said, and there would be a grant under the vocational training act.

Fifth Diphtheria Case

Another diphtheria case was brought into Jubilee Hospital Monday from James Island, together with two carriers. Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, reported today.

The case, an adult man, is related to the child who died here of the disease last week. Dr. W. H. Moore, medical health officer for James Island, is continuing his search for the diphtheria carriers and the two discovered will be kept in hospital until they are free of infection. These are the first carriers discovered in the five cases of diphtheria in the Victoria area this year.

Esquimalt Considers $900 Request For Playground Work

When informed by Reeve E. J. Read, that a former engineer had reported them "kicking around the yard," and finally "sold for salvage," Councillor Guillemaud's ire was really up.

"Those wheels should be traced," they cost from $15 to $20 each.

Council agreed to carry out further investigations, but in the meantime will obtain estimates on the cost of two rubber-tired wheelbarrows.

Labor Relations Outside Scope Of Esquimalt

Field of labor relations is outside the scope of the municipal council, Reeve E. J. Read stated in a letter, endorsed by Esquimalt council meeting Monday night, which will be sent to the Victoria Labor Council.

The labor council had written asking Esquimalt's support for its labor brief to the provincial government. The council had replied once, and the second letter from the labor council asked for a direct answer.

"We are not beholden to any group or to any political party; we are responsible only to the body of taxpayers," commented Reeve Read. "Our field is the narrow one of municipal management."

"There are too many of these requests from all sources," said Councillor G. R. Guillemaud, when it was suggested that the letter be sent to other organizations seeking similar support.

Negotiations will be continued "toward abatement of welfare and social assistance costs to those in emergency shelter at Moresby House and Macaulay Camp," the council agreed.

"We are saddled with a responsibility we would get out from under," said the Reeve. "Any welfare and relief costs for Macaulay and Moresby House must be borne by Esquimalt. The Citizens' Rehabilitation Council felt we should not be saddled with these costs, but that they should be shared by the four municipalities."

Councillor G. R. Guillemaud commented: "I think the city slipped one over on us."

The council supported the medical health officer's recommendation that inoculations for diphtheria be carried out, following report of Councillor A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt representative on the Union Board of Health.

Ban Chinese From School Board Orders

Protest over purchase of $92.09 worth of goods from a Chinese firm here arose during discussion Monday evening of Greater Victoria School Board's payment of $23,137 account for the month of February.

During the meeting of the school board, Trustee Waldo Skillings noted the purchase of vegetables from a Chinese firm and said he could not understand why Orientals, who had no vote, should get the business when "white" firms did not.

He moved that, from April 1, all purchases should be made from "white" firms.

The motion was carried with three trustees opposing. They were Trustee A. Edmonds, Miss Isla Tuck and B. Caley. In opposing the motion, Trustee Edmonds said that if the Chinese were here as citizens, he could not see why they should not enjoy the same rights as others.

Will Undertake Bowling Green Care

After almost an hour's discussion and hearing a delegation from the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, the City Council Monday decided it would undertake the maintenance of the bowling greens of the club at Beacon Hill Park on the understanding the club contributes $1,200 towards the maintenance.

R. H. Harrison and W. S. Hinton spoke on behalf of the club and said that for the five and a half month period they could not obtain a qualified man to care for the greens.

They stressed that lawn bowling attracts many visitors to the city. W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, said it would cost $2,200 a year to maintain the greens and the city would probably have to undertake similar services for the Victoria West Bowling Club. He said a qualified man could not be obtained for the job under $160 a month.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, supporting the club's plea, declared that the city spent thousands of dollars on football fields and he felt lawn bowling was as great an asset to the city as football.

Esquimalt Gives Full Support For Assessment Board

Unanimous support to a recommendation of Reeve E. J. Read that Esquimalt seek institution of an assessment commission or board of assessment officials, was given by councillors at the municipal council meeting Monday night.

Councillor J. P. A. Christensen moved and Councillor G. R. Guillemaud seconded that recommendation of the reeve be forwarded to the provincial government.

"An appeal against our assessment and the decision of the court of revision has been carried to a judge of the Supreme Court, who allowed the appeal," Reeve Read said, referring to a recent judgment which allowed reduction of $79,945 in the assessment of improvements to Yarrow's Ltd. on its two shipyards in Esquimalt.

"I submit that the law should be amended to provide for an appeal upon questions of fact as distinct from questions of law."

Esquimalt Council endorsed the City of Victoria's action in protesting Oak Bay's reduction of assessment, whereby its share of school costs was cut.

Reeve Read said that Esquimalt's share of school costs would be cut $2,544, subject to implementation of the Goldenberg report.

Possibility of an exchange of property between the township and the Department of National Defence will be investigated further, following receipt of a letter from the department.

Negotiations are under way for exchange of land originally obtained by the department for a W.R.C.N.S. barracks, which was not built. Claiming that Esquimalt should get some recompense for the amount of property taken over by the department, Councillor A. C. Wurtele said: "It is only reasonable that some waterfront property should be returned to the municipality."

School Attendance

Total attendance in Greater Victoria schools, including Victoria College, was 10,160 during the month of February, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith reported to Greater Victoria School Board Monday night. Enrolment in night school for February was 923.

The dental report showed 1,420 inspections made, 276 treatments at clinic and 88 parents interviewed. The medical report showed 339 doctors' examinations in Victoria and Esquimalt; 1,656 inspections by nurses in Victoria and Esquimalt, and 178 in Oak Bay; 103 infectious diseases in Victoria and Esquimalt, and 30 in Oak Bay; 16 inoculations in schools in Victoria and Esquimalt and 12 in Oak Bay.

Cafeteria reports showed a loss of $79.42 in the Victoria High cafeteria, $21.42 loss in the Central Junior High cafeteria, and a $15.73 profit in the Oak Bay High cafeteria.

Somebody May Get Kicked Out Of Baseball—Boss Chandler

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Enquirer today quoted A. B. Chandler, the baseball commissioner, as saying "somebody may wind up getting kicked out of baseball" as he discussed Monday's hearing in Sarasota on complaint of Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, that Brooklyn Dodgers officials allegedly made remarks which "reflect upon the character and integrity" of the New York club.

An Enquirer dispatch from Tampa, Fla., said Chandler had this comment when he visited the Cincinnati Reds' training camp: "Somebody may wind up getting kicked out of baseball. I'm taking off my kid gloves and I intend making things tough for the baseball people who won't toe the line and whose conduct I consider detrimental to baseball."

Chandler also revealed, the newspaper said, that Chuck Dressen, Yankees' coach, had asked to be allowed to attend the meeting as he had some things "he wanted to get off his chest."

N.H.L. Playoffs Open March 25 Injuries Worry Canadiens-Leafs

NEW YORK (CP)—The National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs will open March 25 in Montreal between the league champion Canadiens and the third-place Boston Bruins, President Clarence Campbell announced today after a meeting of the board of governors.

Dates for the playoff A series were settled, Campbell said, but the B series between the second and fourth place clubs will have to be decided later due to the closeness of the race for fourth place between New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings.

The Wings lead the Rangers by five points with but two games to go. The Rangers have three games left and by winning all their games, coupled with two Detroit losses, could manage to get back into fourth place—a position they held most of the year.

Final games of the regular schedule take place Sunday. As the Rangers led Detroit by nine points at one time, no playoff dates for Detroit's Olympia rink were arranged. The series B between the Wings or Rangers—and Toronto Maple Leafs—assured of second place—must wait until the picture is clarified.

The injury jinx was a big factor in the hopes of both Canadiens and Maple Leafs, who clinched the one-two positions last week-end. Rearguard trouble was Toronto's worry, with three of their defencemen either doubtful starters or definitely out. Further depletion of Canadiens' centre strength was disclosed last night with the announcement that centre Buddy O'Connor suffered a fractured cheekbone in the wild Sunday night tilt at New York. He was already filling in on the first-string line for Elmer Lach, out for the season with a fractured skull.

Women's B.C. Title Cage Battles Here

Victoria's fair sex will take over the basket hoops chores on the local front this week-end with three British Columbia titles at stake. Commanding the most interest will be the best-of-three senior A women's finals between Hudson's Bay and Vancouver which will take place at the High School gym Friday and Saturday nights, with the deciding game, if necessary, slated for Monday.

New York Yankees Still After Vernon

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Speculation was renewed today over the possibility of Mickey Vernon, American League batting champion and his hard-hitting Washington Senators teammate outfielder Stan Spence, being traded to the New York Yankees.

It is believed that the Yanks are willing to part with Billy Johnson, Johnny Lindell, Steve Souchock or Jack Phillips and perhaps a pitcher in an effort to land Vernon from the Senators.

Phil Hergesheimer Ice Scoring Champ

NEW YORK (CP) — Phil Hergesheimer, player-coach of Philadelphia's Rockets, won the American Hockey League individual scoring title with 92 points, official statistics showed today.

The 33-year-old Winnipeg veteran played in every game for the Rockets who set a league record by losing 52 games during their 64-game season.

Hergesheimer's 48 goals and 44 assists gave him a four-point margin over Cleveland's Bobby Carse who racked up 27 goals and 61 assists for 88 points in 62 contests.

Carse's 61 assists led the league in the playmaking department. Teammate Johnny Holota who centred the line with Carse and Pete Leswick on the wings, finished in third place with 87 points. However, Holota won the goal scoring title with a record 52 goals.

Spencers Meet Navy In Midweek Soccer

Midweek soccer tomorrow afternoon will pit the Hayward Cup winners, Spencers, against the Navy eleven at Athletic Park in the first game of the round robin series for the Rennie & Taylor trophy.

With Hudson's Bay having won the league trophy and Spencers the Hayward Cup, the sailors will be making a determined bid to annex at least one trophy before the season runs out.

Woodcock Forced 15 Rounds To Win Fight With Olek

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP) — Bruce Woodcock, British Empire heavyweight champion, had to go all out Monday night to defeat Stephan Olek of France in a 15-round bout. Woodcock weighed 200½ pounds, Olek 187½.

The British champion, scheduled to fight Joe Bakst of Kilmont, Pa., April 15, was in bed with influenza less than two weeks ago.

Unable to connect effectively with his right, Woodcock appeared bewildered in the late rounds as Olek sometimes retreated and then occasionally counter-attacked with uppercuts.

Many of the French heavyweight champion's blows drew blood from Woodcock's mouth. The bout had been scheduled by Woodcock's manager, Tom Hurst, as a warm-up for the Briton's bout with Bakst and Woodcock had been expected to register a knockout after a few rounds.

But Olek handed Woodcock probably the biggest surprise of his professional career. The Frenchman was the first to draw blood—in the third round—and he continued to connect with annoying punches. In the 13th, the Briton dropped Olek but he was up before a count.

In 30 previous professional contests since 1942, Woodcock had been forced to the distance to win a decision only twice.

Max Bentley Takes Command Of Scoring

MONTREAL (CP) — Max Bentley, Chicago Black Hawks prolific scoring centre, held command of the National Hockey League scoring race for the first time this season when he took a two-point lead over Montreal's Maurice Richard as the result of last week-end's games, league statistics released today revealed.

Richard, who has led the point race since early in December, relinquished his hold on the top rung as Bentley picked up two goals and one assist to increase his total to 67 points, while the shifty Montreal winger was held to one assist during the week-end for a total of 65.

Billy (The Kid) Taylor, Detroit centre, jumped from fifth to third place after establishing a N.H.L. record for assists in one game. Taylor notched seven helpings Sunday night at Detroit defeated Chicago 10 to 6.

DURNAN STILL TOPS

Bill Durnan paces the net-minders in the race for the Vezina trophy, emblematic of the league's least scored on goalie. Durnan, winner of the award for the last three years, has fanned on 126 shots in 57 games for an average of 2.21 goals per game. His closest rival, Turk Broda of Leafs, has allowed 162 goals in the same number of games for an average of 2.84. Chuck Rayner of New York, heads the shut-out department with five goose-eggs.

Gus Morrison of Toronto continues to lead the penalty parade. He has spent a total of 133 minutes in the "cooler."

due to the fact that he completed with United States clubs without sanction of the B.C.A.B.A. Meralomas hold to the opinion that they are justified in playing the U.B.C. star as he was duly signed and registered before the closing date. Meeting at the High School gym prior to the second game Saturday night officials of the B.C. body in attendance refused to decide one way or the other on the matter and will now conduct a telegraphic vote amongst council members. If the protest is allowed the first two games will be thrown out and just when they will be played will be up to the hoop moguls. If it is disallowed Weber will be used in the final games of the series and his presence on the Vancouver line-up will make Legion's chances doubly difficult.

OF great importance also is the better spirit that seems to exist among the players. The boys are keen and the draw with St. Andrews will do more than anything else could to raise their hopes for the Province Cup series. If Manager Ralph Cosier and Coach Bobby Bell can keep the players turning out for the weekly practice sessions, Victoria should have a powerful unit to go after the provincial championship.

FORCED to play the first two games of the B.C. senior A basketball final without the services of their high-scoring bucket ace, Hank Rowe, Canadian Legion hoopers found the going a little too tough over the week-end and dropped both tilts to the fast-moving Meralomas quintette. The mainlanders showed a tremendous closing drive in taking the first two games of the series, winning both in the final minutes. Alex McKeachie's veterans now find themselves definitely behind the eight ball in so far as the series is concerned, as they must win two games on the mainland if they hope to bring the fifth and final game back to Victoria. It is still undecided where the games will be played in Vancouver, but Hunk Henderson is bending every effort to have them played at Varsity gym, where the majority of the Meralomas will be at home in familiar surroundings. It is expected that Rowe will be available for the third and fourth games and his addition should strengthen the locals considerably.

THE dispute over Lomas Ron Weber is still up in the air. Legion maintain he is ineligible

Three Local Rugby Squads Seek Titles

Topping the list of three Victoria rugby teams scheduled to invade the mainland this week-end in quest of provincial championships, will be the powerful J.B.A.A. fifteen, who will clash with Varsity in defence of the Rounsefell Cup at Varsity stadium.

Bays will be out to take the measure of the students and gain some solace for the defeats hung on the Crimson Tide by the powerful Point Grey fifteen. Bert Buller, manager of the locals, is confident his unit can upset the Mekechie Cup titleholders. Victoria College will meet Ex-Britannia at Brockton Point for the B.C. intermediate crown, and Ripples will clash with Vancouver juniors at Varsity for the provincial title in other play-off contests on the agenda.

NON-SCHEDULE FEEDING OF BABIES

By WILLIAM A. OBRIEN, M.D.

Good parent-child relationships are fundamental in the development of stable personalities, and to further this relationship, some mothers are being taught to feed their infants when they are hungry and not to follow a schedule. It has been the experience of many child specialists that so-called "problem children or spoiled children" are the result of a system in which rigid rules and regulations prohibit adequate mothering. Most people have the idea that spoiled children result from over-indulgence, but this seldom is true in the beginning stages of the difficulty. The old schedule of feeding babies every three or four hours was based upon the knowledge that the infant's stomach was empty at these intervals, therefore more food was indicated. This is true of cow's milk, but not of mother's milk, as it may take only from 20 minutes to an hour for it to pass through the infant's stomach.

LEARN'S ASSOCIATION

Not all infants experience hunger at the same time or even at the same intervals. When an infant's stomach is empty, the muscular contractions are painful. This causes the child to cry out for relief. Mothers learn to recognize the cry of hunger just as they seem to know when a child needs a change or cuddling. If the infant is not fed when hungry, the contractions subside in about 30 minutes and there is a quiet period of several hours in which no contractions occur. Many young babies, exhausted by their attempts to get food, go back to sleep and cannot be awakened at their so-called "regular" time for feeding.

John C. Montgomery, M.D., in the Harper Hospital Bulletin, Detroit, points out that the wide-awake, hungry baby readily satisfies both his hunger and appetite and relaxes happily afterward. He learns to associate the taking of food with the relief of pain and a feeling of comfort. He also learns that his mother is responsible for this, which may not be the case if he is bottle-fed by a series of individuals, none of whom feed him at the right time. At the start, infants may awaken as often as 12 to 14 times a day asking to be fed, but later on, they put themselves on a reasonably regular schedule, which some mothers testify is almost as effective as having an alarm clock do the job.

GREENLAND HAS LARGEST GLACIER IN NORTHERN HALF OF WORLD

In most parts of the world, snow melts in due course after it falls. It may lie on the ground for a few hours, a few days, or a few months, but it turns into water when warm weather comes. That is the general rule, but in some places more snow falls in winter than melts in summer. If this goes on year after year, a glacier of one kind or another will be made.

Alaska has glaciers, and so does Greenland, Norway and Switzerland have them, also many other countries. Here and there in Canada they are found, especially in high northern parts. The United States has glaciers, the best known of them being in Glacier National Park, Montana. A glacier is a mass of ice which has been formed out of snow through pressure from above. Every glacier I have seen has been covered with snow. The greatest glacier in the northern hemisphere is the ice sheet on Greenland. This is a vast sheet of ice, crusted with snow, which covers most of the huge island. The area has been estimated at 721,000 square miles! Most of the exploring in Greenland has been done during the past 80 years. In 1870 two men from Sweden left the end of a fiord and walked inland for a distance of 35 miles. Eight years later Jens Jensen reached a place in Greenland slightly more than a mile above sea level, and 45 miles from the western coast.

In 1888 the first complete crossing of Greenland was made by Fridtjof Nansen, a Norwegian scientist, with five companions. They crossed from the eastern coast to the western, and at one point on their journey were 8,922 feet above sea level.

Other crossings have been made since that time, one of them by a party under command of Robert E. Peary. In some spots the top of the glacier is close to two miles above sea level. Near the coasts the ice sheet gives way to "valley glaciers," of which we shall have more to say next time.

"Thanks to you, Grandpa Kruschen..."

Here is a saline treatment for the relief of rheumatic pains, which helped this Liverpool woman so much, that she wrote this letter of thanks: "For years I have suffered from rheumatic pains. My general health was gradually failing too, when I was given the tip to try Kruschen Salts. I got a small bottle and after taking it for about a week, the pain, which had often kept me awake at night, gradually subsided. Now—when I am on my second bottle—my health has improved and the rheumatic pain is negligible."—Mrs. H. H.—Liverpool. After obtaining relief from the first bottle of Kruschen, you can imagine how hopefully Mrs. H. H. started on the second. So follow her example if rheumatic pains are bothering you. Start taking the Kruschen saline treatment at once and continue until you give it a fair chance to help you. Like Mrs. H. H., you should soon feel improvement, because Kruschen is a combination of several mineral salts which aid the organs of elimination and in this way leads toward improvement in health and ease from rheumatic pains. Thousands have been benefited by taking Kruschen. Give it a trial in your own case. Kruschen is 25c. and 75c. at all drug stores.

Bill To Control Farm Exports For Year Voted By Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative fight against the government's control legislation continued in the Commons Monday, with some speakers asserting a bill to continue controls on the sale and export of agricultural products carried the tinge of "Socialism."

The measure was attacked also from the C.C.F. ranks on the grounds that it did not go far enough and should be replaced by a Dominion marketing act for farm products.

A C.C.F. amendment, calling for reference of the bill to the House agricultural committee with instructions to that body that it had power to draft a long-term rather than a short-term marketing program, was defeated 88 to 74. The Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties voted solidly against the government.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the bill, now up for second reading, would enable the government to fill its food contracts with Britain. It would expire after one year.

Earlier, the House had debated two hours before giving third and final reading to a bill to continue, for one year, wartime bonuses paid to rural mail carriers to compensate them for higher costs.

The House opening was featured by the announcement by Mr. Gardiner of a new pricing policy which is expected to stimulate the growing of feed grains by providing greater financial returns for producers of barley and oats at no extra costs to those who buy the grains.

The plan involves higher price ceilings for the producers and offsetting subsidy payments to the producers.

EXCHANGE LIMITED

WINNIPEG (CP) — Transfer of approximately 500,000,000 bushels of oats and barley in commercial channels across Canada to the Canadian Wheat Board and distribution of $5,000,000 to western growers who have delivered barley, featured the coarse grains policy announced Monday in the Commons by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Importation Of Malt Beverages Increased By 243,490 Gallons

Purchases of malt beverages from outside B.C. rose from 28,580 gallons in 1939 to 272,070 gallons in 1946, according to Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer's answers to questions in the B.C. Legislature Monday by Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F. whip, Mackenzie.

An increase in quantity purchased was also shown in purchases by the Liquor Control Board from Growers-Wine Co. Ltd. In 1939, there were 86,858 gallons purchased, while a total of 84,436 gallons was purchased from the company in 1946.

Also asked what total purchases of beer were made in 1946 by the board from Westminster Breweries Ltd., Vancouver Breweries Ltd., Canada Malt and Brewing Co. Ltd., Victoria Phoenix Brewery (1920) Co. Ltd., Silver Spring Brewery Ltd. and the Capilano Brewing Co. Ltd., the Attorney-General answered that the product of the firms mentioned was purchased from the Pacific Breweries' Agents Ltd.

There was no record of total production, which included export business, he said in answer to another question as to the actual production of these breweries in 1933 and 1935, according to official excise production records.

C.N.R. President Inspects Ship Plans

Progress on the construction of the new Canadian National B.C. coast liner being built by Yarrows Ltd. is of major interest to R. C. Vaughan, C.N.R. president, who is now visiting Victoria. He visited the Esquimalt shipyard Monday and saw the steel of the $3,000,000 ship taking shape from the keel up. Left to right: President Vaughan, Hubert A. Wallace, managing director, Yarrows Ltd.; E. W. Izard, plant manager; C. F. Earle, C.N.R. district passenger agent, and J. J. Raleigh, district freight agent.

Loggers' Group Asks Legislation Hoist On Sustained Forest Yield

The British Columbia Loggers' Association today asked the provincial government to delay for a year enactment of sustained yield forest legislation.

The association, in an interview with the provincial cabinet, reported the proposed legislation "departs widely from the recommendations of the commissioner and discourages, rather than encourages, the undertaking of sustained yield forestry by private industry."

The association's representations became the second attack on the proposed legislation within a week. Last week the Vancouver section of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers likewise condemned the legislation before the House.

Since Chief Justice Gordon Sloan had taken two years to hear evidence and write his report on the forest resources of the province, since the Department of Lands and Forests had required several months to draft the bill, the association suggested it was reasonable that the industry should ask more time to study the proposed legislation.

"To postpone the bill, as we are requesting, would in no way affect the vote for the forest service this year, nor delay necessary organization and study by the service," said the association's brief, presented under the signature of R. J. Filberg, chairman of the association's board of directors.

The association likewise expressed disapproval at the suggestion that the bill should be passed now since it would be amended if later found unsuitable. The association claimed the bill was not sound in principle.

CLAIMED UNSOUND IN PRINCIPLE

"... the bill is founded on the purely socialist tenet of a complete government ownership monopoly of forest lands," the association told the cabinet.

"We cannot believe that such a program was in the mind of your government when it proposed this legislation."

The association reiterated its stand expressed last December in a letter to Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney and other members of the cabinet.

Under the proposed legislation, the association claimed, the burden of reforestation and the management and protection of the timber was placed on the shoulders of the operators.

"He may lose all this investment, plus his right to purchase the crop (which is the only right granted him), if his license expires before the crop is ready for cutting and the minister of that day does not choose to renew it," the brief said.

The association also said the operator could lose all his investment for violation of the many provisions of the act or regulations made under it, should the minister of the day so choose.

"No appeal is divided from this decision to any court of law—simply tax an appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council," the brief said.

"These clauses present a combination of possibilities which must discourage timber owners, with capital at risk, from entering into agreements, cancelable in the future by officers who might operate under no restraint and who might be opposed to continuance and protection of private property rights."

RIGHT OF APPEAL

In our view right of appeal to the courts must be guaranteed in the bill.

"The association contended that the equity of the government in any future crop of timber should be the rental value of the land

(if it is grown on Crown land), or the accumulated value of the taxes which should accrue on privately held lands.

"If, in spite of this premise, your government intends that timber grown by the operator shall be the property of the government, then the bill should enunciate two principles," the brief said.

1. The accumulated costs, with interest at a low rate should be a first charge against the appraised stumpage figure if the timber is for sale to the holder of a management license.

2. The remainder, or profit in growing timber, should be divided between the holder and the government on a fixed percentage.

"Without such provision it is very doubtful if companies with adequate capital, plant and experience, are likely to embark on such long-term expenditures with a question mark at the end of them," the brief said.

The association also contended that private owners should be allowed to retain titles to lands after crops have been removed, subject to all other conditions respecting management licenses.

"Under this bill, the forest service will be alienating immense quantities of public timber," the brief said. "It would appear to be a protection to the public and to the industry itself, that such alienations should be made public in the same manner in which timber sales and agreements are advertised."

"It would appear equally important that appraisals should be publicized and gazetted at specific intervals, and that agreements made between the forest service and the holder of a management license should be open to inspection."

The presentation was made to the cabinet by Senator J. W. deB. Farris, on behalf of the association.

Endorse Stand Of Striking Miners

John R. McDonald who is touring the country on behalf of the striking Maritime miners, Monday night told Marine Workers, Machinists and Boilermakers' Industrial Union Local No. 3 that for every 4,000,000 tons of coal mined in Nova Scotia five miners lose their lives.

He further stated that 4,000 of the 13,000 miners employed are injured each year. The old-age pension scheme under which they work only serves 2,000, he said. Any over that number must wait until a pensioner dies before being placed on pension.

"The men are on strike for a small wage increase, for better working conditions and for a health and welfare fund to help the large number of injured miners," he said.

The meeting went on record as endorsing fully the stand of the miners in striking. All members of the union are being asked to donate one day's pay to the Maritime miners' strike fund.

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society annual Irish concert in honor of Ireland's patron saint will be held in the new K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street, Thursday evening. Pipe In Pocket Cause Of Fire Suits and other clothing were destroyed in a fire which police said was started by a burning pipe in a pocket in the clothes closet at Thomas Simpson's home at 3840 Blenkinsop Road, this morning.

Quick response by the Saanich fire department prevented the flames from spreading.

A grass fire was put out by the department on Penn Road Monday. Fire Chief Joseph Law urges residents of the municipality to keep grass trimmed for quite a distance from their homes in the coming hot-weather months.

At Oak Bay this morning the fire department personnel had the pleasure of starting a fire and watching it burn without having to take action. They burned two shocks formerly occupied by Chinese which had been condemned by the health authorities of the municipality. They were located at the end of Elgin Street.

300 Pints Of Blood Given By Sailors

Today was "Navy Day" for members of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Clinic. The unit was brought over from the mainland, this morning, to receive the blood donations of 300 naval ratings at H.M.C.S. Naden.

Included in the traveling clinic is a staff car, a panel wagon, an ambulance and a refrigerator unit. The ambulance will stay in Victoria for the time being but the other vehicles will go back to Vancouver tonight.

The staff of the unit consists of two doctors, 11 nurses, two technicians and four drivers. Dr. Walter Rice, director of the service in B.C., also made the trip with the unit. At the Esquimalt establishment, this morning, the overall operation of the work was being supervised by Dr. Rice and Miss Marjorie Harrison, who is supervisor of the nurses. Miss Harrison is well acquainted with transfusion work, having served overseas with a blood transfusion unit during the war.

The procedure in giving blood follows: The donor is given a blood test in order to determine his grouping. He is asked to lie down and the donation of blood is taken by the doctors and nurses. (The actual time of giving one pint of blood is ten minutes.) He is then rested for two minutes, given a cup of coffee and sent on his way.

The blood will be added to the ever-increasing supplies of the Red Cross Blood Service. The service, which is now in operation in B.C., only provides free blood transfusions to anyone who needs one. The service was inaugurated in this province in January and it is hoped that in the near future every province will have the benefit of such a service.

In the campaign of the Red Cross Society for $5,000,000, now in progress, $1,037,500 is sought for the extension and maintenance of this service.

Premoter of the R.A.F. "Smiles" show and business manager of "The Patrician," Jerry Gosley, who was well-known here as an entertainer when he was at Patricia Bay, plans to return to Victoria to make his home.

Now on the Wiltshire Gazette, he writes: "Since leaving Victoria, I have traveled most of Europe and have seen many lovely places, but never have I seen such beautiful scenery or met such friendly people. I yearn to return to Vancouver Island."

Lumber Production In Alberni Region $6,525,000 In 1946

A total volume of 225,000,000 board feet of lumber, worth $6,525,000, was utilized in the major forest industries of the Alberni region in 1946, Minister of Lands and Forests E. T. Kenney reported in answer to questions by James Mowat, Coalition, Alberni, in the B.C. legislature Monday.

There were 1,062 men employed in manufacturing plants in that area for the same year, he added.

The minister also said that steps were being taken by the forest service to make a complete inventory of the timber resources for the region. In 1941, he said, a survey was made of the forest resources of the south-west portion of Vancouver Island, south of the Alberni Canal. A total of 676,170 acres were covered and forest cover maps were made.

Due to a serious shortage of suitable personnel during the war all surveys were suspended but resumed in 1945 when a party worked in the region north from the Alberni Canal. The party continued in 1946 and for two years a total of 1,213,010 acres were surveyed.

Maps and timber surveys were now in the process of compilation and would be available this year, the minister promised.

Bill To Approve Franchise Opposed

The provincial government today asked to withdraw legislation which would approve the 20-year B.C. Electric franchise in Vancouver and to proceed with public ownership of power facilities as suggested in the Gilman report.

The plea was made by the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.) and affiliated organizations, Spokesman for the delegation, in a hearing before the provincial cabinet, was John Stanton.

A resolution, passed earlier, was presented to the cabinet in a 25-page brief. The resolution called for submission to the franchise to ratepayers' plebiscite.

The delegation claimed the overwhelming majority of Vancouver citizens had not had an opportunity to express their views to the government on the question.

School Trustees Meet Dr. Weir

The delegation asked the minister for clarification on the exact meaning of amendments now before the legislature and also presented him with a brief.

Red Cross Drive Reaches $46,071

Auditors of the Victoria Red Cross Campaign announced at noon today that $46,071 had been subscribed towards the local objective of $65,000. National objective for the campaign is $5,000,000.

The money will go towards the establishment and maintenance of the society's new peacetime program. Included in this program is the care of victims of disaster. In Victoria the Red Cross has a 25-bed mobile hospital unit ready in case of any major disaster. The unit can be set up and be in operation anywhere in this vicinity within two hours.

Similar hospitals have proven invaluable in other cities when there have been large fires. The Greater Victoria School Board has requested the City Council to forward as soon as possible a cheque for one-twelfth of the city's share of the board's requirements for ordinary expenditure to meet commitments for the next month.

Thieves Get $500 Haul Of Jewelry; Citizens Warned

Thieves who have been concentrating on private homes during the last two weeks seeking jewelry and other valuables, Monday night made off with approximately $500 worth from Suite 3 at 1140 Pandora Avenue, occupied by Mrs. Mildred Poulton.

City police have had several such robberies reported to them since the beginning of March.

Included in the jewelry taken from Mrs. Poulton's suite was a chipped diamond bracelet and a diamond ring, both valued at $150 apiece. Also missing is a war medal, a gold ring bearing an emerald, a string of pearls and some foreign money.

Detectives Louis Callan and Angus Munro attended after Mrs. Poulton had called the police about the robbery. They found entry had been gained by a rear fire escape.

Chief of Police John A. McLellan today issued a call to the public to be careful and lock up doors and windows when leaving their homes. While some entries were being made forcibly, he notes that other entries are being made simple for the culprits due to open windows and doors left unlocked.

Central Canada Should Bear Big Part Of Freight Boost, Says B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—C. H. Locke, British Columbia counsel at the freight rate inquiry, suggested to the Board of Transport Commissioners today that Central Canada should be made to bear the heaviest share of rate increases sought by the railways.

The central provinces, Mr. Locke said, were benefiting more than the others through increased expenditures by the railways and any increase in charges made by the railways "should be distributed accordingly."

Mr. Locke was arguing for the production of a group of documents on C.P.R. operations and finances sought by counsel for seven provinces at the hearing. The C.P.R. has objected to production of the records.

Mr. Locke said neither he nor anyone else would suggest the railways should be left in a position where they could not operate or maintain their properties.

But he held it was not for the railways to say where they were to get additional revenue. That was up to the board.

However, the Canadian Pacific Railway was seeking to obtain the $37,000,000 additional revenue it wanted from freight operations alone and, further, from only a part of the freight structure.

"A large part of the freight structure is excluded from the increase," Mr. Locke said.

Shipments of grain for export from western Canada would be excluded entirely. Coal traffic would be partially exempt, and so would $50,000,000 in international traffic.

In all, Mr. Locke declared, the railways should be left in a position where they could not operate or maintain their properties.
